Reds Hit Twice At Marine Base

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas made two attacks on U.S. forces in the Mekong Delta before dawn today, killing six Americans and wounding 25. One other American was missing, and two South Vietnamese platoons suffered heavy casualties.

A 15-minute mortar barrage of 80 rounds hit the first major American base established in the delta about 2 a.m., catching most of the soldiers asleep. The barrage killed two and wounded 23 at the 9th Infantry Division's Dong Tam camp some 40 miles south of Saigon.

It was the first shelling of the camp since 9th Division infantrymen moved into it in late January. The camp is about one mile square, on ground dredged from the Mekong River, and is surrounded by paddy land largely controlled by the Viet Cong at night.

Another 9th Division post was hit by mortars and small-arms fire two hours later at Rach Kien, about a dozen miles from Saigon. The U.S. soldiers and two platoons of about 60 South Vietnamese soldiers were on outpost duty and were badly bloodied in the two-hour battle.

A U.S. spokesman said the Americans had four dead, two wounded and one missing. A Vietnamese spokesman said the two South Vietnamese platoons suffered "heavy casualties."

The Viet Cong faded into the darkness when reinforcements came up, and their losses were not known. But their force was raked by artillery fire and gunship helicopters.

U. S. naval forces operating off the North Vietnamese coast had one of their busiest days Tuesday since they started shelling coastal targets in the north on Feb. 26.

The U. S. Command said the cruiser Canberra and the destroyers Keppler and Ingersoll bombarded 17 targets some 40 miles south of the port of Vinh. The warships were credited

Council Members Press for More Action on Safety

Members of Circleville Council's Safety and Health Committee have stepped up their campaign to secure improved standards for the city.

A portion of Tuesday night's regular council session was devoted to steps that are being taken by the committee. Offering roundups were chairman John Jenkins and member Robert Turner.

Jenkins said he feels improvement progress is being made through periodic committee meetings, normally conducted on Saturday mornings with police, fire, health and safety officials.

The chairman said subjects ranging from the safety condition of local taxi cabs to proper school zone and crosswalk safety signs have been discussed. Matters pertaining to health and sanitation also have been high on the agenda.

JENKINS presented several sketches last night denoting dimensions and costs of traffic signs and devices he feels are needed in the city. In offering the material for study by council as a whole, he said, "This matter should be taken care of as soon as possible."

The committee head noted that the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and local PTA groups have expressed an interest in helping with the safety and health improvement effort.

Councilman Turner, who declared much has been accomplished by the safety and health committee meetings, touched off a brief but lively debate with Solicitor Kenneth Robbins when he inquired about the possibility of preparing an ordinance regulating the storing of old cars and other material on vacant lots.

Robbins said he did not have time to prepare the ordinance, nor did the solicitor's salary warrant it. He advised council to secure outside legal counsel for the job.

Richard Breuner, new city sanitarian, outlined a program for council's consideration. He said the governing body's cooperation was vital.

Alice B. Toklas Dies at Age of 89

PARIS (AP) — Alice B. Toklas, 89, a native of San Francisco whose faithful association with the late Gertrude Stein earned her a place in the history of American letters, died Tuesday.

Frequent visitors to Miss Stein's—and Miss Toklas'—apartment in Paris were Ezra Pound, Ford Madox Ford, F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway and T. S. Eliot.

Anti-Maoists Are Arrested

More than 1,000 Seized in Canton

HONG KONG (AP) — More than 1,000 opponents of Mao Tse-tung, most of them factory workers, were arrested by Communist army troops in the South China city of Canton Monday night, Hong Kong newspapers reported today.

Quoting travelers arriving from Canton, the papers said many of those arrested were members of the "August 1st Unit," known as opponents of Mao's purge.

They said the troops surrounded the headquarters of the anti-Mao "Provincial Revolutionary Alliance." One paper said those arrested were banished from the city, but it was not known where they were sent.

After the mass arrests, the papers said, pro-Mao Red Guards pasted up wall posters urging workers and peasants to return to their jobs. The posters also said that Chen Yu, governor of Kwangtung Province in which Canton is located, was arrested in Peking.

The Hong Kong Chinese language newspaper Hung Lok Daily News reported Tuesday that anti-Maoists were active in Canton and Kwangtung Province "inciting workers and peasants" to slow down production.

Moscow radio claimed today that "opposition to Mao is very large" and anti-Maoists are active in a number of provinces, including Hupeh, Kwangtung, Kiangsi, Tsinghai, Szechwan and Tibet.

It accused Peking of using force in putting down the opposition and charged "the army is resorting to cruelties." Some anti-Maoists have been sentenced to death and others imprisoned, it said.

Brown Rules On Poll Time

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's polling places will open and close during hours which follow the clock the year around, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today.

A new federal law requires states to observe daylight saving time between April and October.

For any elections occurring during those months, Brown said, polls will open at 6:30 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m., as stipulated by state statute.

The Ohio law says polling places will open and close according to Eastern Standard Time. But Brown said he interpreted the federal law to mean that the fast time will be considered standard time during the April-October period.

OFF TO PRISON — Teamster boss James R. Hoffa (top, left) and his attorneys prepare to leave Washington for the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., and the start of an eight-year prison term. Hoffa came to court in a chauffeur-driven Lincoln Continental, which was ticketed by a policeman (bottom) for being illegally parked.

Roundtown

PFC. ROBERT ARNOLD, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arnold of Route 1, seriously wounded in Vietnam, recently, has improved enough to write a letter to his parents.

Early today the rural carrier who delivers the Arnolds' mail saw the letter while he was preparing to make his daily route. Realizing that Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were anxious to hear from their son, he gave them a call on the phone and Mr. Arnold picked it up at the post office.

"Bob is in the intensive care ward following surgery, but reports he is improving," Arnold said.

"He wants to thank all his friends for all of the mail he has received. Up until now, he has not been able to answer any of the letters, but he sure appreciates getting them," his father said.

WITH EASTER fast approaching, many may be interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Byers of 309 N. Wood St., Loudenville, have had on display in their home each Easter season since 1957 an Easter egg tree.

Every year Mrs. Byers adds to her hand decorated egg collection and now the tree holds 1,000 trimmed eggs varying in size from a robin's egg to an ostrich egg.

The Byers invite the public each Easter season to view the tree with the bejeweled and colorful eggs. School classes are welcome but large groups are asked to make appointments.

MAYOR Ben H. Gordon and members of Circleville Council were at Berger Hospital Tuesday evening, but not for medical or surgical purposes.

On the contrary, the city officials were guests of Charles B. Beard, Berger administrator.

They initially gathered for a dinner session, then enjoyed guided tours through the hospital.

The Berger visit took place before the solons gathered for their regular bi-monthly session at City Hall. Several of them noted they were impressed with what they saw at the hospital.

CONFUSION was the order of the day when a semi-tractor trailer broke down in front of the J. C. Penney Store on W. Main St., today.

City Police and townspeople were pushing and straining to clear the clogged street to restore normal flow of traffic which was blocked by the big truck.

THE PRIZE steer "Blackie" will be on display at the 4-H Grange Building today from 2 to 6 p. m.

The international champ will be the guest at the Cattle Feeders Annual Banquet Thursday night at the Fairgrounds at 7 p. m.

James Hoffa Just Inmate To Warden

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — James Hoffa will be just another inmate behind the walls of the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., according to Warden Jacob J. Parker.

Wearing a two-piece blue denim suit and black low-cut shoes, Hoffa started his first full day in this federal penitentiary today.

Parker said he had no plans to meet with Hoffa for the first few days and that, like the 1,700 other inmates, Hoffa will work to earn his spending money. He will get no special mail or visiting privileges, said Parker.

Federal marshals brought Hoffa here Tuesday to start an eight-year term for jury tampering. Eventually said Parker, he'll settle into a routine, but for the first month, he'll be going through an indoctrination of sorts.

Parker said Hoffa's first stop was the supply room, where he turned in his business suit for three two-piece blue denim uniforms. Parker added that the uniforms would later be "tailored to meet his needs."

Hoffa's first five to seven days in prison, Parker said, are to be spent as a member of an "admission unit," undergoing a physical examination and a series of interviews with the chaplain, education and vocational specialists and a case worker.

During this period he will be given a temporary work assignment, probably some kind of service-type work.

Except for work assignments, members of the admission unit move as a group, even for recreation periods.

"This is an orientation period for both the inmates and the clinic staff," Parker said.

Parker said that after 30 days, Hoffa will get a permanent job and be assigned to permanent quarters. Each inmate at Lewisburg has his own cell.

"We get about 1,000 admissions a year here," Parker said. "I can't have a personal meeting with each man when he arrives. I'll see him (Hoffa) when I float through the institution."

Pianist Crippled By Red Guards

MOSCOW (AP) — Red Guards have broken the hands of Liu Shih-kun, the Chinese pianist who placed second to Van Cliburn in the 1958 Tchaikovsky competition, the newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura (Soviet Culture) reported today.

The report gave no details. It appeared in an article on the fate of the arts in China under Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution purge.

James Meredith To Fight Powell

Scientists See Bad Time Ahead

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mere survival may become man's chief concern in an overpopulated, underfed world, says a prominent scientist.

Dr. George Harrar, president of the Rockefeller Foundation of New York, Tuesday night told a California Institute of Technology conference on "The Next 90 Years":

"The more developed nations cannot for any considerable period of time or in any significant dimension feed portions of the world which remain static in terms of their own food production efforts."

"Unless this is clearly understood and maximum efforts are made to reverse systems of underproduction wherever they exist, survival will indeed become man's chief concern."

Earlier in the conference three Caltech professors, who wrote a best-selling book "The Next 100 Years" 10 years ago, revised their forecasts gloomily on the basis of events since then.

They reported the earth's population is growing more rapidly than expected and that the world is likely to run into a food crisis within 10 years instead of 100.

Caltech biologist James Bonner cited a widening gap between rich and poor nations and predicted: "We will, I suspect, begin to regard the starving populace of the undeveloped nations as a race or species apart, people totally different from us, as indeed they will be."

"They are just animals," we will say, "and a serious reservoir of disease." The inevitable culmination of the two cultures will be that one culture (the rich) will devour the other."

Shaw Lawyers File Motions

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Attorneys for Clay Shaw, the only man arrested so far in Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's probe of the John F. Kennedy assassination, are going to court in an attempt to quash the charges.

Guy Johnson, an attorney for the former managing director of the International Trade Mart, said motions would be filed today in the court of Criminal Dist. Judge Bernard Bagert, who has scheduled a preliminary hearing in the case for next Tuesday.

"We will file motions for particulars — the nature of the crime, the names of the coconspirators, the name of the unnamed informant," Johnson said.

"And we'll file a motion to suppress the search warrant and a motion to quash."

Garrison alleged in an application for a warrant to search Shaw's home last week that Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie met and discussed "how they would kill John F. Kennedy."

Shaw said he did not know Oswald, the man identified by the Warren Commission as Kennedy's assassin, or Ferrie, a free-lance pilot who died Feb. 22 while under investigation by Garrison's office.

One week ago today Shaw was led handcuffed from Garrison's office to be booked on a charge of conspiring to murder President Kennedy. He was later released on $10,000 bail.

Four others have been subpoenaed to the district attorney's office for questioning and released.

Garrison has vowed there will be arrests and convictions resulting from what he says was a New Orleans conspiracy which culminated in the assassination of Kennedy.

Young Marine Discovers Golden Rule Really Works

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — "Kids are the most wonderful things in the world," a young Marine wrote from Vietnam.

Pfc. John Morrow Jr., 20, first expressed his sentiments about youngsters in a letter home last fall. He wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morrow, that he was sickened at the sight of maimed children in Vietnam.

Enclosed in the letter was his monthly paycheck, endorsed. He asked that it be used to help handicapped youngsters.

"We do our best," he said, "to get the enemy and not hurt civilians but sometimes their paths cross. That is where the trouble occurs."

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow sent the money to the Cerebral Palsy Association. Since then their son has made regular monthly contributions to the same cause.

Eventually, the young Marine started corresponding with the association.

Reception Of Candidacy Rather Cool

NEW YORK (AP) — Negro leaders in Harlem and around the country reacted coolly today to James H. Meredith's plans to run as the Republicans' choice against Democrat Adam Clayton Powell in a special congressional election April 11.

They gave him little chance of winning, and some charged he was being used.

Meredith, in agreeing to oppose Powell Tuesday after being recommended by Republican leaders, said he was aware that in running he might lay himself open to "the fear and the scorn from fellow Negroes." He said that Powell, excluded from the House last week, had lost his influence and the people deserve more than what they're getting.

Meredith's name was suggested by an unidentified Harlem Republican leader last week.

Tuesday he was recommended by members of the Republican Executive Committee from the 18th District. His nomination is expected to be made at a meeting of the rank-and-file Harlem Republican County committeemen within a week.

Powell, who has won the 18th District of Harlem in 12 consecutive elections by wide margins, had little comment when he learned of the announcement.

"We'll wait and see," he said from his retreat in Bimini, the Bahamas. Powell is taking

Cleveland Bank Robber Shot by FBI

CLEVELAND (AP) — An East Side man sought as a bank robber pulled a gun when confronted by FBI agents Tuesday, but was killed by one of the agents before he could use it.

Charles W. Bates, agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office, identified the victim as Gilead Herbert Hopkins, 26.

Bates said Hopkins was sought on a warrant charging him with the $328 robbery of a Cleveland Trust Co. branch bank Feb. 24.

Hopkins, a Negro, was confronted by agents on East 80th Place at Wade Park Avenue. Hopkins pulled a gun from his pocket and was shot once by agent Gerald Davis, Bates said. Hopkins slumped against a tree and his loaded .22-caliber revolver fell to the ground.

Davis, also a Negro, was graduated from the FBI academy Washington, D. C., only last week.

Historic Natchitoches Losing Ground—Literally

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — A sliver of land, less than 100 feet wide and shrinking at the rate of 55 feet per year, stands between the Red River and possible flooding of historic Natchitoches and the Cane River Valley.

The strip separates the flood-prone Red River from the placid Cane River, a lake-like stretch of water that once was the bed of the Red River.

"One more high water like we had in the spring of 1966 could go through," says Herman Taylor Jr., owner of the farm land being eroded away by the Red River.

"That would leave only the dam and levee to protect Natchitoches and the entire Cane River Valley," adds Taylor, who says he has so far lost 200 acres worth $70,000. Business and civic group here agree with Taylor.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers feels the narrowing of the gap between the two rivers presents no threat.

"We have the situation under observation," an Army engineer representative said recently. "We feel we have adequate levees behind the old original levees to protect the area."

Several years ago, the main levee paralleling the Red River at the Herman Taylor bend, about two miles north of Grand Ecote, was eaten away by the river. The levee then was set back with a levee and dam put across the Cane River between the bend and Natchitoches — founded in 1715 and oldest city in Louisiana. It has 14,000 residents.

Residents of the Cane River Valley doubt the dam and levee would be adequate to check a major rise in the Red River — which takes its name from the reddish-brown soil it carries downstream. They fear the dam and levee might wash out and flood the valley.

Taylor said the erosion of the Red's west bank at the bend has averaged about 55 feet a year since 1940. Nothing is being done to stop further erosion, he said.

Senators Frown On Domestic Use Of USIA Matter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl E. Mundt said today the home-front release of U.S. Information Agency documentary films on President Johnson would be political propaganda.

Other senators from both parties joined him in opposing domestic distribution of USIA materials.

Teamsters To Resume Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — National trucking negotiations for 500,000 workers resume today with imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa no longer in the driver's seat.

Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's handpicked stand-in, takes over contract talks with Trucking Employers Inc., representing the largest of the 12,000 firms involved.

Hoffa will have to learn from behind bars how his "life's dream" national contract is handled by Fitzsimmons.

Hoffa, 54, who hammered out the first national trucking agreement three years ago, went to the Federal Penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., Tuesday to begin his eight-year jury tampering sentence.

The Teamsters Union said today that Hoffa would not receive his $100,000-a-year salary while in prison but his wife would be paid $4,000 a month.

The money for Mrs. Hoffa was voted by the union's Executive Board.

Fitzsimmons, 33, who long worked in Hoffa's shadow, is largely an unknown quantity in major contract talks and will be watched closely by industry negotiators and other Teamsters leaders.

Hoffa, who opened the talks in January, generally dominated negotiations.

The union is demanding 75 cents an hour in wage hikes over three years plus numerous improved fringe benefits and working conditions worth an estimated total of 5 to 7 per cent annually. Truckers now earn $3.32 to $5 an hour in wages.

The negotiations, with a March 31 strike deadline, have sputtered along, largely because of uncertainty over Hoffa's fate and a dispute over whether there should be a master nationwide contract or a number of separate ones.

"You're not going to break up my life's dream of a national bargaining contract," Hoffa shouted at industry negotiators several weeks ago.

The dispute then was whether Trucking Employers Inc. would bargain with the union at the same time as smaller independent trucking associations. Later, Trucking Employers flatly refused to bargain until after Hoffa's prison deadline.

"They're stalling," a Teamsters spokesman said. Industry negotiators still haven't sized up the outlook for bargaining with Hoffa's replacement.

"We'll have to see how the meeting goes," a Trucking Employers spokesman said before the first session with Fitzsimmons.

Reception

(Continued from Page 1) court action in efforts to regain his seat, but plans to run again should litigation fail to settle the matter by April 11.

Percy Sutton, Manhattan borough president whose home political district is in Harlem said he would support Powell. Sutton, a Democrat like most Harlem leaders, said in a statement:

"While Mr. Meredith has certainly earned his credentials as a civil rights hero, I think the Republicans will find many in the Harlem community feel Mr. Meredith is an outsider, selected by the Republicans and outsiders to be imposed on the Harlem community."

Meredith, whose enrollment desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962 and touched off bloody riots, is one of the most prominent Negro civil rights activists in the nation. He was shot last year on a civil rights march through Mississippi.

Meredith told a new conference that he is an "independent Democrat."

Now 33, he has been a student at the Columbia Law School here for two years.

He said that in the past he had faced "the most brutal Westerners — that is, Mississippi and Southern whites — how could I let fear of the displeasure of some Negroes deter me when in my heart I know my divine responsibility calls for me to run."

"The people deserve more than what they're getting," he said. "Whatever influence Adam Clayton Powell once had, he doesn't have any more. The future of the Negro will be affected by what happens in this election."

"I believe the people must have a chance to make a choice, people should have to think about the issues and not go just on emotions."

His program included the enactment of an ordinance governing the storage of refuse and nuisance items on vacant lots, a compulsory garbage pickup program, licensing of all garbage haulers, amendments to a current ordinance on burning of trash and a publicity program to notify the public of what is being done.

IN OTHER business, the council received a petition from several residents on Circle Drive denoting objection to the city's move to install three street lights in the area.

Councilman Joseph Bell said the electric company has been notified to hold up on the erection.

Clerk Robert Shadley read a letter from the State Health Department commending the local sewage plant for its efforts to maintain a high level treatment program here.

Deaths

MR. FORD S. ARCHER
Mr. Ford S. Archer, 76, Summerfield, died Tuesday at Zanesville.

Survivors include a son, Donald Archer, 220 Sunset Drive, work unit conservatorship for the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District; four other sons; one daughter and 13 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Brubach Funeral Home, Summerfield.

MRS. ANNA M. TEMPLE
Mrs. Anna May Temple, 77, of 456 E. Ohio St., died 12:03 a.m. today in Berger Hospital.

Born Mar. 9, 1889 in Ross County, she was the daughter of William F. and Ella Best Davis.

Mrs. Temple was a seamstress and a practical nurse for the past several years.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lyman England, 230 Logan St.; three grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Peters Sr., Route 2, Ashville; Mrs. John Norris, Norfolk Ave.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Friday in the First Church of Christ in Christian Union, E. Ohio St., with the Rev. Edward Adkins, the Rev. Richard Humble and the Rev. Willard Cozad officiating. Burial will be in Floral Hills Cemetery.

Friends may call at Deffenbaugh Funeral Home from noon Thursday until noon Friday and then at the church.

Memorial donations to the missionary work of the church were requested by Mrs. Temple.

Funds Released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Controlling Board released nearly $900,000 at a special meeting today for a new library and student services building at the Mansfield branch of Ohio State University.

House To Study Proposed Plans Of Court Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A widely backed constitutional resolution to modernize the state's court system was up for introduction today in the Ohio House.

The names of 15 legislators were on the proposal which resulted from a study made by the Ohio State Bar Association's Committee for Modern Courts.

Sponsors expressed optimism over chances for the far-reaching proposal although it is similar to a measure which never got out of the Senate Judicial Committee at the last session of the legislature. Three-fifths approval by both houses and a favorable vote of the people are required for passage.

The bill's principal provisions would give the Ohio Supreme Court administrative supervision over all state and local courts, give the high court rule-making powers and authority to temporarily assign judges to relieve crowded dockets, permit judges to run for re-election after a judge reaches the age of 70.

The proposal also would require only a simple majority for constitutional decisions by the Supreme Court instead of the present requirement for six out of seven and allow judges to receive salary increases while they are in office rather than at the beginning of a new term.

Both houses held routine floor sessions Tuesday and the lawmakers attended an Ohio Education Association banquet before returning Tuesday night for several key committee meetings.

The House Finance Committee opened hearings on an omnibus providing pay raises for an estimated 45,000 state employees. State Personnel Director Wayne Ward said the measure calls for boosts of 10 per cent effective July 2 and another 5 per cent effective July 2, 1968. The cost would run $47 million for the first two years.

A bill setting priority for the counting of votes for President, governor, and members of Congress ran into opposition in Rep. Charles Fey's House Government Operations Committee. Several members of the Cleveland delegation contended the measure would increase expense by requiring poll workers to handle ballots several times instead of only once.

In other business, the Senate passed three bills and completed Ohio approval of a U.S. constitutional amendment fixing the line of presidential succession.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff R-8 Cincinnati, Hamilton explained that while more than enough states (38) already have ratified the amendment, the American Bar Association recommended action to overcome possible legal challenges in some states that already have acted.

Among bills passed by the Senate and sent to the House was one by Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn R-5 Dayton, Montgomery permitting women to operate certain types of equipment using belts and emery wheels.

Mrs. Weisenborn said that while the measure applies only to specific sanders and grinders "I hope it is the first step in the elimination of a long list of employment discriminations against women."

Sen. Frank W. King D-11 Toledo, Lucas, who also is president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, supported the measure but said many more will be needed for Ohio to comply with new federal laws banning discrimination in employment because of sex.

Two bills were passed by the House, one aimed at ending zoning speculation on land designed for highway projects and another to permit sale of 10-ounce cartons of milk.

Rep. George E. Mastics R-52 Fairview Park, Cuyahoga, said the highway bill requires local authorities to notify the Highway Department of zoning changes, pending building permits, and other actions affecting highways. And the Highway Department must notify local authorities of pending changes in highways. Ninety-day notice would be given in each case.

Mastics said enactment would safeguard against repetition of a Cleveland area case in which development changes were approved for land earmarked for Interstate 71. He estimated the changes cost the state about $1 million in land acquisition funds.

Rep. Thomas E. Hill D-41 Cleveland, Cuyahoga said there was a demand in Cleveland area industrial plants and other places for milk in 10-ounce cartons — two ounces more than a half pint and six ounces less than a pint, the current legal sizes.

New bills offered in the two chambers would withdraw

Ratification Of Consular Treaty Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate ratification by next week of a U.S.-Soviet consular treaty — one of President Johnson's East-West "bridges" appeared likely today.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee got debate on the controversial measure started Tuesday, declaring the proposed agreement offers "mutual accommodation" in relations with the Soviets rather than possible "mutual annihilation."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., in the forefront of a small band fighting ratification, scheduled an appearance at a closed meeting of all GOP senators to try to rally disintegrating opposition forces.

Mundt said there are enough senators not yet committed to make the two-thirds vote necessary for ratification "reasonably close."

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., predicted in a separate interview that fewer than 20 of the Senate's 100 members would vote against the pact.

The treaty, signed in 1964, sets guidelines for establishing additional consulates by each country on the other's soil. It grants diplomatic immunity to staffs as well as officials.

Each country would be required to give notification of the arrest of any of the other's nationals and provide access to any who were jailed.

Johnson has urged its ratification as part of his program of achieving "a reconciliation with the East."

Mundt and other opponents contend the agreement would permit an expansion of Soviet espionage in the United States.

They oppose any agreement so long as the Soviets continue to supply North Vietnam with arms.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who resolved his previous doubts and now favors the treaty, said these and other objections "just don't stand up."

Dirksen and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed that what they now regard as almost certain Senate approval won't come until next week.

"A good many members want to be heard on this matter," Dirksen observed. Fulbright told his colleagues the treaty represents "a modest, cautious step" in the direction of reconciliation with "the other immensely powerful state in the world today, a state with whom our relations are most sensitive and difficult, a state with whom our relations are of transcendent importance."

Fulbright, who has often criticized Johnson's Vietnam war policies, rejected opponents' arguments against acting while the Soviet Union continues to support North Vietnam.

"If I were the leader of North Vietnam I would be concerned at any sign of a rapprochement between an ally on whom I depended heavily and my opponent, especially if my ally and my opponent were the two most powerful countries in the world," he said.

"And if I were an ally of the United States it would worry me to see the United States spurn an opportunity to reduce the tensions which might, if they are not reduced, lead to a conflict in which I might become involved simply because I was an ally of one of the protagonists."

WASHINGTON (AP) — That international study rating U.S. youngsters as only so-so in mathematics ability continues to be a hot topic in the education world.

The United States was near the bottom of the heap in the 12-nation project, which tested the math talent of 133,000 students. Results were announced Monday in Chicago, setting off a chorus of comment likely to continue for weeks or months.

Dr. Louis Bright, associate U.S. commissioner of education, said Tuesday the study "shows the comprehensive school system of the United States is doing a much better job for the entire population than are the very selective schools of foreign nations."

The study indicates that American students with the highest ability are a match for foreign youngsters in the top group, but other groups in the U.S. population don't fare as well, Bright said.

"I think that during the next few months the thing that educators will be attacking is the question why," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy per cent of the new workers added to the working force since 1964 have been women, according to that longtime booster of women, Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President said Tuesday night that he is glad to see women moving into "a full partnership" in the progress of the nation.

"The need and the opportunity for women doers is clear throughout the land," he said.

The President spoke at a dinner honoring six government career women for achievements in fields ranging from science to diplomacy.

Bank Sack Theft Probed

City police today said they are continuing their investigation concerning the theft of a bank bag Monday from the Blue Ribbon Dairy at 315 S. Pickaway St.

According to investigating officers, the bank bag contained $998.71 in cash and $1,016.31 in checks. The container was taken from an office desk.

Officials at the dairy said they believe the money bag was taken between 5:15 and 5:45 p. m. Monday. It reportedly was a standard type money sack fitted with a lock.

Youth, 17, Given Life Sentence

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Dennis Burns, 17, formerly of Baltimore, Md., was convicted today of first degree murder in the Oct. 13 bludgeoning slaying of Betty L. Bown, 19, of Canton.

Presiding Judge William Morris denied a defense motion to defer sentencing pending an appeal for a new trial and sentenced Burns to life imprisonment on each count.

Senators Frown On Domestic Use Of USIA Matter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Karl E. Mundt said today the home-front release of U.S. Information Agency documentary films on President Johnson would be political propaganda.

Other senators from both parties joined him in opposing domestic distribution of USIA materials. But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he doesn't believe their release would propagandize Americans so long as the agency carried out its proper objective: "To convey the unvarnished truth."

Teamsters To Resume Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — National trucking negotiations for 500,000 workers resume today with imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa no longer in the driver's seat.

Teamsters General Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's handpicked stand-in, takes over contract talks with Trucking Employers Inc., representing the largest of the 12,000 firms involved.

Hoffa will have to learn from behind bars how his "life's dream" national contract is handled by Fitzsimmons.

Hoffa, 54, who hammered out the first national trucking agreement three years ago, went to the Federal Penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa., Tuesday to begin his eight-year jury tampering sentence.

The Teamsters Union said today that Hoffa would not receive his $100,000-a-year salary while in prison but his wife would be paid $4,000 a month.

The money for Mrs. Hoffa was voted by the union's Executive Board.

Fitzsimmons, 53, who long worked in Hoffa's shadow, is largely an unknown quantity in major contract talks and will be watched closely by industry negotiators and other Teamsters leaders.

Hoffa, who opened the talks in January, generally dominated negotiations.

The union is demanding 75 cents an hour in wage hikes over three years plus numerous improved fringe benefits and working conditions worth an estimated total of 5 to 7 per cent annually. Truckers now earn $3.32 to $5 an hour in wages.

The negotiations, with a March 31 strike deadline, have sputtered along, largely because of uncertainty over Hoffa's fate and a dispute over whether there should be a master nationwide contract or a number of separate ones.

"You're not going to break up my life's dream of a national bargaining contract," Hoffa shouted at industry negotiators several weeks ago.

The dispute then was whether Trucking Employers Inc. would bargain with the union at the same time as smaller independent trucking associations. Later, Trucking Employers flatly refused to bargain until after Hoffa's prison deadline.

"They're stalling," a Teamsters spokesman said.

Industry negotiators still haven't sized up the outlook for bargaining with Hoffa's replacement.

"We'll have to see how the meeting goes," a Trucking Employers spokesman said before the first session with Fitzsimmons.

court action in efforts to regain his seat, but plans to run again should litigation fail to settle the matter by April 11.

Percy Sutton, Manhattan borough president whose home political district is in Harlem said he would support Powell. Sutton, a Democrat like most Harlem leaders, said in a statement:

"While Mr. Meredith has certainly earned his credentials as a civil rights hero, I think the Republicans will find many in the Harlem community feel Mr. Meredith is an outsider, selected by the Republicans and outsiders to be imposed on the Harlem community."

Meredith, whose enrollment desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962 and touched off bloody riots, is one of the most prominent Negro civil rights activists in the nation. He was shot last year on a civil rights march through Mississippi.

Meredith told a new conference that he is an "independent Democrat."

Now 33, he has been a student at the Columbia Law School here for two years.

He said that in the past he had faced "the most brutal Westerners — that is, Mississippi and Southern whites — how could I let fear of the displeasure of some Negroes deter me when in my heart I know my divine responsibility calls for me to run."

"The people deserve more than what they're getting," he said. "Whatever influence Adam Clayton Powell once had, he doesn't have any more. The future of the Negro will be affected by what happens in this election."

"I believe the people must have a chance to make a choice, people should have to think about the issues and not just on emotions."

eration would greatly assist him in performing the work he was hired to do.

His program included the enactment of an ordinance governing the storage of refuse and nuisance items on vacant lots, a compulsory garbage pickup program, licensing of all garbage haulers, amendments to a current ordinance on burning of trash and a publicity program to notify the public of what is being done.

IN OTHER business, the council received a petition from several residents on Circle Drive denoting objection to the city's move to install three street lights in the area. Councilman Joseph Bell said the electric company has been notified to hold up on the erection.

Clerk Robert Shadley read a letter from the State Health Department commending the local sewage plant for its efforts to maintain a high level treatment program here.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-Cincinnati, Hamilton explained that while more than enough states (38) already have ratified the amendment, the American Bar Association recommended action to overcome possible legal challenges in some states that already have acted.

Among bills passed by the Senate and sent to the House was one by Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, Montgomery permitting women to operate certain types of equipment using belts and emery wheels.

Mrs. Weisenborn said that while the measure applies only to specific sanders and grinders "I hope it is the first step in the elimination of a long list of employment discriminations against women."

Sen. Frank W. King, D-11 Toledo, Lucas, who also is president of the Ohio AFL-CIO, supported the measure but said many more will be needed for Ohio to comply with new federal laws banning discrimination in employment because of sex.

Two bills were passed by the House, one aimed at ending zoning speculation on land designed for highway projects and another to permit sale of 10-ounce cartons of milk.

Rep. George E. Mastics, R-52 Fairview Park, Cuyahoga, said the highway bill requires local authorities to notify the Highway Department of zoning changes, pending building permits, and other actions affecting highways. And the Highway Department must notify local authorities of pending changes in highways. Ninety-day notice would be given in each case.

Mastics said enactment would safeguard against repetition of a Cleveland area case in which development changes were approved for land earmarked for Interstate 71. He estimated the changes cost the state about $1 million in land acquisition funds.

Rep. Thomas E. Hill, D-41 Cleveland, Cuyahoga said there was a demand in Cleveland area industrial plants and other places for milk in 10-ounce cartons — two ounces more than a half pint and six ounces less than a pint, the current legal sizes.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A widely backed constitutional resolution to modernize the state's court system was up for introduction today in the Ohio House.

The names of 15 legislators were on the proposal which resulted from a study made by the Ohio State Bar Association's Committee for Modern Courts.

Sponsors expressed optimism over chances for the far-reaching proposal although it is similar to a measure which never got out of the Senate Judicial Committee at the last session of the legislature. Three-fifths approval by both houses and a favorable vote of the people are required for passage.

The bill's principal provisions would give the Ohio Supreme Court administrative supervision over all state and local courts, give the high court rule-making powers and authority to temporarily assign judges to relieve crowded dockets, permit judges to run for re-election after a judge reaches the age of 70.

House To Study Proposed Plans Of Court Change

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A widely backed constitutional resolution to modernize the state's court system was up for introduction today in the Ohio House.

The bill's principal provisions would give the Ohio Supreme Court administrative supervision over all state and local courts, give the high court rule-making powers and authority to temporarily assign judges to relieve crowded dockets, permit judges to run for re-election after a judge reaches the age of 70.

The proposal also would require only a simple majority for constitutional decisions by the Supreme Court instead of the present requirement for six out of seven and allow judges to receive salary increases while they are in office rather than at the beginning of a new term.

Both houses held routine floor sessions Tuesday and the lawmakers attended an Ohio Education Association banquet before returning Tuesday night for several key committee meetings.

The House Finance Committee opened hearings on an omnibus providing pay raises for an estimated 45,000 state employees. State Personnel Director Wayne Ward said the measure calls for boosts of 10 per cent effective July 2 and another 5 per cent effective July 2, 1968. The cost would run $47 million for the first two years.

A bill setting priority for the counting of votes for President, governor, and members of Congress ran into opposition in Rep. Charles Fey's House Government Operations Committee. Several members of the Cleveland delegation contended the measure would increase expense by requiring poll workers to handle ballots several times instead of only once.

In other business, the Senate passed three bills and completed Ohio approval of a U.S. constitutional amendment fixing the line of presidential succession.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-Cincinnati, Hamilton explained that while more than enough states (38) already have ratified the amendment, the American Bar Association recommended action to overcome possible legal challenges in some states that already have acted.

Ratification Of Consular Treaty Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate ratification by next week of a U.S.-Soviet consular treaty — one of President Johnson's East-West "bridges" appeared likely today.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee got debate on the controversial measure started Tuesday, declaring the proposed agreement offers "mutual accommodation" in relations with the Soviets rather than possible "mutual annihilation."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., in the forefront of a small band fighting ratification, scheduled an appearance at a closed meeting of all GOP senators to try to rally disintegrating opposition forces.

Mundt said there are enough senators not yet committed to make the two-thirds vote necessary for ratification "reasonably close."

But Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., predicted in a separate interview that fewer than 20 of the Senate's 100 members would vote against the pact.

The treaty, signed in 1964, sets guidelines for establishing additional consulates by each country on the other's soil. It grants diplomatic immunity to staffs as well as officials.

Each country would be required to give notification of the arrest of any of the other's nationals and provide access to any who were jailed.

Johnson has urged its ratification as part of his program of achieving "a reconciliation with the East."

Mundt and other opponents contend the agreement would permit an expansion of Soviet espionage in the United States.

They oppose any agreement so long as the Soviets continue to supply North Vietnam with arms.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who resolved his previous doubts and now favors the treaty, said these and other objections "just don't stand up."

Dirksen and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield agreed that what they now regard as almost certain Senate approval won't come until next week.

"A good many members want to be heard on this matter," Dirksen observed.

Fulbright told his colleagues the treaty represents "a modest, cautious step" in the direction of reconciliation with "the other immensely powerful state in the world today, a state with whom our relations are most sensitive and difficult, a state with whom our relations are of transcendental importance."

Fulbright, who has often criticized Johnson's Vietnam war policies, rejected opponents' arguments against acting while the Soviet Union continues to support North Vietnam.

"If I were the leader of North Vietnam I would be concerned at any sign of a rapprochement between an ally on whom I depended heavily and my opponent, especially if my ally and my opponent were the two most powerful countries in the world," he said.

"And if I were an ally of the United States it would worry me to see the United States spurn an opportunity to reduce the tensions which might, if they are not reduced, lead to a conflict in which I might become involved simply because I was an ally of one of the protagonists."

Bank Sack Theft Probed

City police today said they are continuing their investigation concerning the theft of a bank bag Monday from the Blue Ribbon Dairy at 315 S. Pickaway St.

According to investigating officers, the bank bag contained $998.71 in cash and $1,016.31 in checks. The container was taken from an office desk.

Officials at the dairy said they believe the money bag was taken between 5:15 and 5:45 p. m. Monday. It reportedly was a standard type money sack fitted with a lock.

YOUTH, 17, Given Life Sentence
CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Dennis Burns, 17, formerly of Baltimore, Md., was convicted today of first degree murder in the Oct. 13 bludgeoning slaying of Betty L. Brown, 19, of Canton.

Presiding Judge William Morris denied a defense motion to defer sentencing pending an appeal for a new trial and sentenced Burns to life imprisonment on each count.

Fellowship Meets
The Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship of Emmett's Chapel, meeting in the home of Teresa Wright, made plans to attend the movie, "For Pete's Sake" on Mar. 12.

Cathy Mayberry will be hostess at the April 2 meeting at her home Route 1. The session will start at 6 p. m.

Antarctica Role

What have Antarctica and the moon in common? Much, according to space scientists who have completed a week of investigating living conditions in the frozen southland. The inhospitableness of the climate, the extreme temperatures, the lonely existence, the desolate terrain and sparse food are similarities in the two areas.

Survival in the Antarctic depends largely on making the right decision at the right time, a logistics system and the proper functioning of equipment. These are also vital factors in space activities. When men land on the moon for exploratory trips, their lives will depend on their ability to acclimate themselves to a hostile world.

No one has yet lived under the conditions which space travel will mandate. Supplying every need, from an artificial atmosphere to food and water, will require a large part of the space explorer's time.

Where is there a better place on earth to prepare for such a journey than in the strange, desolate valleys of Antarctica? Man's first trips to the moon and other planets will be uncomfortable in the extreme unless he can learn to accommodate himself to a world he has never known before.

A pre-flight vacation in the southern continent is just what the space scientist ordered, not only for astronauts but prospective travelers as well. Fewer persons would find the prospects of a trip to the moon the glamorous event they imagine it to be if they first spent a few weeks in Antarctic isolation.

Merits of March

March is hardly one of the popular months. No poet ever sang, "Oh, what is so rare as a day in March?" Its weather is commonly described as "raw" and often lives up to the description.

Its winds rake skins already rasped by weeks of winter cold, and its fickle clime brings sniffles and coughs even to those who had begun to boast they had escaped them.

Nevertheless, it is about time somebody put in a good word for March. Unlovely as it may seem, it has some merits.

After three weeks of bluster and threat, March suddenly lays spring on the doorstep. At this stage, to be sure, spring is not prettier than new-born babes, but surely March, which brings it forth, is entitled to take some parental pride in its later loveliness.

March brings a few swelling buds and green sprouts and early birds — just when the sight of them is most welcome.

Easter comes in March, too. March 26 will not set a record for earliness — Easter may come as early as March 22. How the date of Easter is determined is a mystery to people who shake their heads and say they never were good at figures, anyway.

But it is simple enough. Figures aren't necessary. Just wait until spring starts. Then watch for a full moon.

Where Tycoons Play, Create

By John Chamberlain

NASSAU, Bahamas — When Lynden Pindling, the first Negro Premier of the Bahamas, took over the government of 700 beautiful "isles of June" in the name of the people whose ancestors were brought here as slaves, it underscored a tremendous irony. The irony resides in what Mr. Pindling's islands have to sell.

The list consists of practically everything that proletarian governments elsewhere in the world have hastened to kill. Item: privacy for the rich, from Henry Ford II to Sargent Shriver. Item: Leisure and fun for the bourgeoisie (900,000 of whom are expected to disgorge here from jet planes and cruise ships before 1967 is out). Item: soaring real estate values on land which, in complete opposition to the Henry George Single Tax theory, is untaxed as long as it is unimproved. Item: betting on horses, hermit crab races (so help me they have 'em) and on the red and the black in a couple of posh casinos that have caused U. S. mass magazines to go overboard about the temptations opened to the American Mafia. Item: opportunity for enterprisers such as has been forgotten practically everywhere else in the world outside of the Asiatic island of Hong Kong.

These are all things that Castro, on the not-so-distant island of Cuba, has murdered outright. But what good has Castro done for the masses of Cuba? Fortunately, Lynden Pindling is looking more at Puerto Rico than at Cuba.

When I asked Mr. Pindling how in the absence of natural resources he could develop light industries on the out islands away from Nassau, he snapped back with "Well, Puerto Rico succeeded."

This, from the standpoint of those who hope Mr. Pindling will appoint a development advisory board including such locally respected international entrepreneurs as E. P. Taylor, the Canadian who owns Carling Breweries, is a good augury.

The islands are, in fact, a living testimony to the truth (which should be a truism) that a hundred-cent investment dollar (no corporation or capital gain tax) is vastly more efficient than a fifty-cent investment dollar. Bored and frustrated with their mainland troubles, numerous U. S., Canadian and British tycoons have come to the Bahamas not only for privacy but also for the sheer joy of creation.

There is Pan-American World Airways' Juan Terry Tripp, for one example. Mr. Tripp, a sportsman, has become fascinated with Eleuthera Island, where he and a syndicate of thirty men are developing 3,000 acres. The Cotton Bay Club on Eleuthera has a membership limited to one hundred millionaires, but you can't waste seventeen miles of coast-line on millionaires alone, so there is also the non-exclusive Rock Sound Club, which makes it feasible for Mr. Tripp to schedule two Pan-American flights daily to Eleuthera.

Then there is the Andros Island development of J. Louis Reynolds, the aluminum tycoon. Mr. Reynolds is a skin diver and scuba diver who owns his own private submarine, and he came to the Bahamas for fun. But he can't keep his creative hands off the 2,000 acres he picked up on Andros. He plans to bring in the light industry that Premier Pindling wants.

He will, he says, make Andros a "model of free enterprise."

The most exploited Bahama story is that of Wallace Groves, the builder of the new city of Freeport on Grand Bahama Island. Mr. Groves has been getting it in the neck for allegedly permitting the Mafia to horn in on Grand Bahama casino gambling. There will be an investigation of this, but nobody will investigate Mr. Groves for bringing a big U. S. Steel cement manufacturing subsidiary to Grand Bahama, or a Syntex pharmaceutical venture. And, though they are making room for a casino on their Paradise Island development across the harbor from Nassau, the two young men who run the Mary Carter Paint Company of Tampa, Florida, the Messrs. James Crosby and Jack Davis, aren't being censured for putting $20 million in 1967 into the beautiful tract they took over from Huntington Hartford. There will be exclusivity for the few on Paradise Island, but there will also be swimming for everybody from neighboring Nassau.

Mr. Pindling can have his equivalent of Puerto Rico — or something much better — just so long as he lets the playful tycoons keep on creating with those hundred-cent dollars. There's still nothing like capitalism if you want to build up a country.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE U.N. REPRESENTATIVE from a remote nation was being interviewed at Kennedy Airport by the press. "Good flight, sir?" asked one reporter. The representative smiled broadly and answered in a series of peculiar noises—a honk, a screech, an oink, a whistle—then concluded in perfect English, "Just about perfect, I should say, save for some slight turbulence as we came in for a landing." To the next question he replied with the same weird set of noises and a concluding, "You don't catch me off base on that one, gentlemen."

Finally, one baffled reporter demanded, "Where did you learn to speak such flawless English, sir?" The representative answered, "Short-wave radio."

Tidbits about the literary world revealed in Charles Madison's "Book Publishing in America": In 1833, when Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was 26, he wrote to a friend, "The publishers of our country are as niggardly a set as ever snapped fingers at a poor devil author." . . . The name "Prentice-Hall" is composed of the maiden names of the founders' mothers. . . . Publisher with the most honorary degrees: Alfred A. Knopf: six to date, and more coming up.

Two lissome surfboarders were sunning themselves on a virtually deserted California beach. "This spot is so secluded," noted one, "that I believe we could go nude into the water." "What's the point?" asked the other. "There's nobody to watch us."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is cystitis ever caused by kidney disease?

Cystitis is an inflammation, irritation or infection of the urinary bladder. This structure accumulates and holds urine until it is excreted from the body.

It is remarkable that the delicate lining of the bladder resists infection as well as it does. When there is an infection in the kidney, in the prostate or anywhere along the urinary tract, cystitis may occur.

A few symptoms call the doctor's attention to the presence of cystitis which can then be verified by microscopic study of the urine. Pain and a burning sensation during urination coupled with an increased frequency to urinate are probably the most common complaints.

Only rarely does blood appear in the urine. Cystitis may be accompanied by chills and fever and a general feeling of fatigue and irritability.

The sulfa drugs and the antibiotics have been remarkably effective in controlling and curing even the most troublesome kinds of urinary infections. Cystitis in particular has reacted favorably to these drugs, which are taken only under the very specific direction of the doctor. The choice of drug is often determined by culture studies of the urine which shows how sensitive the bacteria is to the drug of choice.

Why must a diabetic take special care to avoid infection of the feet?

The patient with diabetes, who is not under complete control, tends to develop infections of the skin more readily than the diabetic under active treatment. The blood supply and circulation of the legs may be diminished in the elderly diabetic. Poor circulation interferes with the healing capacity of the body.

It is for this reason that everyone with a circulatory condition, diabetic or non-diabetic, should pay particular care to their feet and legs. Feet should be dried thoroughly and powdered, especially in warm weather, to avoid breaks in the skin through which germs can enter. Toenails must be cut straight across in order to avoid the "corner infections" that sometimes follow home pedicures.

Corns and calluses must not be cut by anyone unless trained to do so. The chiropodist or the podiatrist has special instruments and can skillfully cut the corns without inviting infection.

Even a slight infection of the skin in the diabetic deserves the immediate attention of a doctor in order to avoid unpleasant complications.

What are the incubation periods for the most common childhood diseases?

Mumps, German measles and chicken pox have an incubation period of 14 to 21 days before symptoms begin to appear. Regular measles incubates in about eight to ten days.

Whooping cough, or pertussis, takes about one week to incubate. Diphtheria takes two to five days after exposure.

It is important to know when a child has been exposed to a contagious disease. School authorities ask parents to notify them immediately so that they can relay this information to the parents of other children.

Breakfast is an important meal. Don't skip it.

Hoof-in-Mouth Disease

NEW YORK (AP) —One of the surest ways to put your hoof in your mouth in this world is to ask the wrong questions.

Being inquisitive is a sign of intelligence. It reflects innate curiosity, the hallmark of learning. Who would want a child that didn't ask questions?

But it is also a test of maturity to learn to know what question, to ask, and where, and when.

Some questions simply aren't worth asking because they are bound to lead to nothing but trouble.

Such as: "What if it is a one-way street, officer? I'm only going one way, ain't I?"

"Are you asking for volunteers for this patrol, lieutenant?"

"Does it mean that I'll get more money back if I bet on a horse to win than if I bet on him to place or show?"

"Why don't you try picking on someone your own size, you big bully?"

"Sez who?"

"Who was the lady I saw you with last night — or was it your wife?"

"Harry, tell me the truth — how do you really think I'd look in a miniskirt?"

"How many shares of this growth stock would I have to buy now to be able to retire in five years?"

"Whose turn is it to buy a round?"

"Did the children behave today?"

"Would you mind telling me frankly what you think my future with the firm is, sir?"

"How much do you really need?"

"What do you want a diamond engagement ring for, Myrtle? Wouldn't you just as soon have a good slave ring to wear in your nose?"

"Let's don't break up the party now. Why don't we all go over to our house and keep it going?"

"You don't suggest that I go on a diet, do you, doctor?"

"That's a swell idea, boss, but it'll take an awful lot of time. Whom do you have in mind to carry it out?"

"If it was good enough for my mother, why isn't it good enough for you?"

"Shall we draw straws tonight to see who carries out the garbage?"

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The relatively low ebb of consumer enthusiasm, reflected most dramatically in the slackest automobile sales in years, has also become a spur to the purchase of government savings bonds.

Treasury officials recently reported that bond sales in February reached a seven-year high for the month. Retail merchants at the same time reported that sales, though bright, weren't sparkling the way they had hoped.

Throughout the latter part of 1966 consumers began putting more money than before into savings of one sort or another. And the increase was in rough proportion to their waning interest in buying goods, as measured by several surveys.

At one point recently about 6 per cent of disposable income was being saved compared to less than 5 per cent at midyear 1966. Bonds are a beneficiary of this trend.

Other factors are at work also. Some interest rates have fallen as the demand for credit recedes a bit, but the interest rate on bonds has been raised to 4.15 per cent from 3.75 per cent. They are a better buy now.

The patriotic motive also cannot be ignored. More Americans are finding themselves involved personally in the Vietnam war, thus creating an emotional climate for purchases.

Government promotional efforts have helped too. And so has the lifting of purchase limits. Less than a year ago the Treasury raised the limit on the amount of bonds an individual can purchase in one year. On Series E the figure was doubled to $20,000. On Series H it rose to $30,000, from $20,000.

All these may be factors, but even in total they cannot dispel the evidence that a lessening of consumer confidence is involved. The consumer always puts his money where his confidence is.

As he finds his disposable income melted away, the reality of inflation is brought home. Purchasing becomes less attractive. A car or a home or an appliance is made to do for another year. The money goes into savings.

Now a new bond, Freedom Shares, will go on the market May 1 at a higher rate of interest and quicker maturity. Already industry and government officials are being instructed in sales of these shares through payroll deduction plans. A big promotional campaign is expected.

The new notes can be obtained only by purchasers of Series E bonds on a one-for-one basis, but since more than eight million persons now belong to payroll deduction plans a big sale is anticipated.

The Freedom Shares carry an annual interest rate of 4.74 per cent if held to maturity 4½ years later. Cashed in before that time they pay less.

date. Supplying every need, from an artificial atmosphere to food and water, will require a large part of the space explorer's time.

Where is there a better place on earth to prepare for such a journey than in the strange, desolate valleys of Antarctica? Man's first trips to the moon and other planets will be uncomfortable in the extreme unless he can learn to accommodate himself to a world he has never known before.

A pre-flight vacation in the southern continent is just what the space scientist ordered, not only for astronauts but prospective travelers as well. Fewer persons would find the prospects of a trip to the moon the glamorous event they imagine it to be if they first spent a few weeks in Antarctic isolation.

Merits of March

March is hardly one of the popular months. No poet ever sang, "Oh, what is so rare as a day in March?" Its weather is commonly described as "raw" and often lives up to the description.

Its winds rake skins already rasped by weeks of winter cold, and its fickle clime brings sniffles and coughs even to those who had begun to boast they had escaped them.

Nevertheless, it is about time somebody put in a good word for March. Unlovely as it may seem, it has some merits.

After three weeks of bluster and threat, March suddenly lays spring on the doorstep. At this stage, to be sure, spring is not prettier than new-born babes, but surely March, which brings it forth, is entitled to take some parental pride in its later loveliness.

March brings a few swelling buds and green sprouts and early birds — just when the sight of them is most welcome.

Easter comes in March, too. March 26 will not set a record for earliness — Easter may come as early as March 22. How the date of Easter is determined is a mystery to people who shake their heads and say they never were good at figures, anyway.

But it is simple enough. Figures aren't necessary. Just wait until spring starts. Then watch for a full moon.

Where Tycoons Play, Create

By John Chamberlain

NASSAU, Bahamas — When Lynden Pindling, the first Negro Premier of the Bahamas, took over the government of 700 beautiful "isles of June" in the name of the people whose ancestors were brought here as slaves, it underscored a tremendous irony. The irony resides in what Mr. Pindling's islands have to sell.

The list consists of practically everything that proletarian governments elsewhere in the world have hastened to kill. Item: privacy for the rich, from Henry Ford II to Sargent Shriver. Item: Leisure and fun for the bourgeoisie (900,000 of whom are expected to disgorge here from jet planes and cruise ships before 1967 is out). Item: soaring real estate values on land which, in complete opposition to the Henry George Single Tax theory, is untaxed as long as it is unimproved. Item: betting on horses, hermit crab races (so help me they have 'em) and on the red and the black in a couple of posh casinos that have caused U. S. mass magazines to go overboard about the temptations opened to the American Mafia. Item: opportunity for enterprisers such as has been forgotten practically everywhere else in the world outside of the Asiatic island of Hong Kong.

These are all things that Castro, on the not-so-distant island of Cuba, has murdered outright. But what good has Castro done for the masses of Cuba? Fortunately, Lynden Pindling is looking more at Puerto Rico than at Cuba.

When I asked Mr. Pindling how in the absence of natural resources he could develop light industries on the out islands away from Nassau, he snapped back with "Well, Puerto Rico succeeded."

This, from the standpoint of those who hope Mr. Pindling will appoint a development advisory board including such locally respected international entrepreneurs as E. P. Taylor, the Canadian who owns Carling Breweries, is a good augury.

The islands are, in fact, a living testimony to the truth (which should be a truism) that a hundred-cent investment dollar (no corporation or capital gain tax) is vastly more efficient than a fifty-cent investment dollar. Bored and frustrated with their mainland troubles, numerous U. S., Canadian and British tycoons have come to the Bahamas not only for privacy but also for the sheer joy of creation.

There is Pan-American World Airways' Juan Terry Trippe, for one example. Mr. Trippe, a sportsman, has become fascinated with Eleuthera Island, where he and a syndicate of thirty men are developing 3,000 acres. The Cotton Bay Club on Eleuthera has a membership limited to one hundred millionaires, but you can't waste seventeen miles of coastline on millionaires alone, so there is also the non-exclusive Rock Sound Club, which makes it feasible for Mr. Trippe to schedule two Pan-American flights daily to Eleuthera.

Then there is the Andros Island development of J. Louis Reynolds, the aluminum tycoon. Mr. Reynolds is a skin diver and scuba diver who owns his own private submarine, and he came to the Bahamas for fun. But he can't keep his creative hands off the 2,000 acres he picked up on Andros. He plans to bring in the light industry that Premier Pindling wants. He will, he says, make Andros a "model of free enterprise."

The most exploited Bahama story is that of Wallace Groves, the builder of the new city of Freeport on Grand Bahama Island. Mr. Groves has been getting it in the neck for allegedly permitting the Mafia to horn in on Grand Bahama casino gambling. There will be an investigation of this, but nobody will investigate Mr. Groves for bringing in a big U. S. Steel cement manufacturing subsidiary to Grand Bahama, or a Syntex pharmaceutical venture. And, though they are making room for a casino on their Paradise Island development across the harbor from Nassau, the two young men who run the Mary Carter Paint Company of Tampa, Florida, the Messrs. James Crosby and Jack Davis, aren't being censured for putting $20 million in 1967 into the beautiful tract they took over from Huntington Hartford. There will be exclusivity for the few on Paradise Island, but there will also be swimming for everybody from neighboring Nassau.

Mr. Pindling can have his equivalent of Puerto Rico — or something much better — just so long as he lets the playful tycoons keep on creating with those hundred-cent dollars. There's still nothing like capitalism if you want to build up a country.

THE U.N. REPRESENTATIVE from a remote nation was being interviewed at Kennedy Airport by the press. "Good flight, sir?" asked one reporter. The representative smiled broadly and answered in a series of peculiar noises—a honk, a screech, an oink, a whistle—then concluded in perfect English, "Just about perfect, I should say, save for some slight turbulence as we came in for a landing." To the next question he replied with the same weird set of noises and a concluding, "You don't catch me off base on that one, gentlemen."

Finally, one baffled reporter demanded, "Where did you learn to speak such flawless English, sir?" The representative answered, "Short-wave radio."

Tidbits about the literary world revealed in Charles Madison's "Book Publishing in America": In 1833, when Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was 26, he wrote to a friend, "The publishers of our country are as niggardly as a set of ever snapped fingers at a poor devil author." . . . The name "Prentice-Hall" is composed of the maiden names of the founders' mothers. . . . Publisher with the most honorary degrees: Alfred A. Knopf: six to date, and more coming up.

Two lissome surfboarders were sunning themselves on a virtually deserted California beach. "This spot is so secluded," noted one, "that I believe we could go nude into the water." "What's the point?" asked the other. "There's nobody to watch us."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is cystitis ever caused by kidney disease?

Cystitis is an inflammation, irritation or infection of the urinary bladder. This structure accumulates and holds urine until it is excreted from the body.

It is remarkable that the delicate lining of the bladder resists infection as well as it does. When there is an infection in the kidney, in the prostate or anywhere along the urinary tract, cystitis may occur.

A few symptoms call the doctor's attention to the presence of cystitis which can then be verified by microscopic study of the urine. Pain and a burning sensation during urination coupled with an increased frequency to urinate are probably the most common complaints.

Only rarely does blood appear in the urine. Cystitis may be accompanied by chills and fever and a general feeling of fatigue and irritability.

The sulfa drugs and the antibiotics have been remarkably effective in controlling and curing even the most troublesome kinds of urinary infections. Cystitis in particular has reacted favorably to these drugs, which are taken only under the very specific direction of the doctor.

The choice of drug is often determined by culture studies of the urine which shows how sensitive the bacteria is to the drug of choice.

Why must a diabetic take special care to avoid infection of the feet?

The patient with diabetes, who is not under complete control, tends to develop infections of the skin more readily than the diabetic under active treatment.

The blood supply and circulation of the legs may be diminished in the elderly diabetic. Poor circulation interferes with the healing capacity of the body. It is for this reason that everyone with a circulatory condition, diabetic or non-diabetic, should pay particular care to their feet and legs.

Feet should be dried thoroughly and powdered, especially in warm weather, to avoid breaks in the skin through which germs can enter. Toenails must be cut straight across in order to avoid the "corner infections" that sometimes follow home pedicures.

Corns and calluses must not be cut by anyone unless trained to do so. The chiropodist or the podiatrist has special instruments and can skillfully cut the corns without inviting infection.

Even a slight infection of the skin in the diabetic deserves the immediate attention of a doctor in order to avoid unpleasant complications.

What are the incubation periods for the most common childhood diseases?

Mumps, German measles and chicken pox have an incubation period of 14 to 21 days before symptoms begin to appear. Regular measles incubates in about eight to ten days.

Whooping cough, or pertussis, takes about one week to incubate. Diphtheria takes two to five days after exposure.

It is important to know when a child has been exposed to a contagious disease. School authorities ask parents to notify them immediately so that they can relay this information to the parents of other children.

Breakfast is an important meal. Don't skip it.

Hoof-in-Mouth Disease

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the surest ways to put your hoof in your mouth in this world is to ask the wrong questions.

Being inquisitive is a sign of intelligence. It reflects innate curiosity, the hallmark of learning. Who would want a child that didn't ask questions? But it is also a test of maturity to learn to know what question, to ask, and where, and when.

Some questions simply aren't worth asking because they are bound to lead to nothing but trouble.

Such as: "What if it is a one-way street, officer? I'm only going one way, ain't I?" "Are you asking for volunteers for this patrol, lieutenant?"

"Does it mean that I'll get more money back if I bet on a horse to win than if I bet on him to place or show?"

"Why don't you try picking on someone your own size, you big bully?"

"Sez who?"

"Who was the lady I saw you with last night — or was it your wife?"

"Harry, tell me the truth — how do you really think I'd look in a miniskirt?"

"How many shares of this growth stock would I have to buy now to be able to retire in five years?"

"Whose turn is it to buy a round?"

"Did the children behave today?"

"Would you mind telling me frankly what you think my future with the firm is, sir?"

"How much do you really need?"

"What do you want a diamond engagement ring for, Myrtle? Wouldn't you just as soon have a good slave ring to wear in your nose?"

"Let's don't break up the party now. Why don't we all go over to our house and keep it going?"

"You don't suggest that I go on a diet, do you, doctor?"

"That's a swell idea, boss, but it'll take an awful lot of time. Whom do you have in mind to carry it out?"

"If it was good enough for my mother, why isn't it good enough for you?"

"Shall we draw straws tonight to see who carries out the garbage?"

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The relatively low ebb of consumer enthusiasm, reflected most dramatically in the slackest automobile sales in years, has also become a spur to the purchase of government savings bonds.

Treasury officials recently reported that bond sales in February reached a seven-year high for the month. Retail merchants at the same time reported that sales, though bright, weren't sparking the way they had hoped.

Throughout the latter part of 1966 consumers began putting more money than before into savings of one sort or another. And the increase was in rough proportion to their waning interest in buying goods, as measured by several surveys.

At one point recently about 6 per cent of disposable income was being saved compared to less than 5 per cent at midyear 1966. Bonds are a beneficiary of this trend.

Other factors are at work also. Some interest rates have fallen as the demand for credit recedes a bit, but the interest rate on bonds has been raised to 4.15 per cent from 3.75 per cent. They are a better buy now.

The patriotic motive also cannot be ignored. More Americans are finding themselves involved personally in the Vietnam war, thus creating an emotional climate for purchases.

Government promotional efforts have helped too. And so has the lifting of purchase limits. Less than a year ago the Treasury raised the limit on the amount of bonds an individual can purchase in one year. On Series E the figure was doubled to $20,000. On Series H it rose to $30,000, from $20,000.

All these may be factors, but even in total they cannot dispel the evidence that a lessening of consumer confidence is involved. The consumer always puts his money where his confidence is.

As he finds his disposable income melted away, the reality of inflation is brought home. Purchasing becomes less attractive. A car or a home or an appliance is made to do for another year. The money goes into savings.

Now a new bond, Freedom Shares, will go on the market May 1 at a higher rate of interest and quicker maturity. Already industry and government officials are being instructed in sales of these shares through payroll deduction plans. A big promotional campaign is expected.

The new notes can be obtained only by purchasers of Series E bonds on a one-for-one basis, but since more than eight million persons now belong to payroll deduction plans a big sale is anticipated.

The Freedom Shares carry an annual interest rate of 4.74 per cent if held to maturity 4½ years later. Cashed in before that time they pay less.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thrill seekers might be able to sample LSD, a hallucination producing drug, just once without paying grave legal consequences, under proposal now before an Ohio Senate subcommittee.

The bill would crack down sharply however, on second time offenders and persons convicted of manufacture or sale of the controversial drug.

Sen. Clara E. Weisenborn R-5 Dayton, Montgomery is author of the bill. It would impose a 2-15 year prison term on "pushers" but at the same time make allowances for students or others who "tried it once out of curiosity," Mrs. Weisenborn said.

Under a proposed swing penalty clause, it would be left up to the judge whether to treat cases of first offenders as misdemeanors or felonies. Penalties for misdemeanors are not lenient. They call for a $500 to $1,000 fine or six months in jail for the first offense.

Mrs. Weisenborn offered the swing penalty amendment before the measure was sent to a committee.

Papal Rules Open Way For Jazz Beat Rhythm

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI changed the rules for Roman Catholic church music Tuesday, opening the way to use of beat rhythms and jazz for sacred services.

The new regulations, issued to implement parts of the Vatican Council's 1963 decree on liturgy (public worship), are expected to revolutionize the music of the 2,000-year-old church. They go into effect on Pentecost Sunday, May 14.

The papal document calls for more singing in services, permits translation of Latin hymns into modern languages, recommends the use of instruments native to individual countries and cultures, and authorizes a period of wide experimentation to adapt modern musical forms and compositions to church use. Beat music and jazz were not mentioned specifically. But there was no prohibition against them, and the document said new musical modes should be "held in honor, encouraged and used as the occasion demands." The regulations were prepared by the Vatican's Congregation of Rites and a special liturgy commission named after the Ecumenical Council. The Congregation of Rites in a declaration Jan. 4 protested against Masses "sometimes accompanied by music of a totally profane and worldly character, not worthy of a sacred action." This was generally considered a condemnation of the "jazz Masses" with which some priests sought to appeal to modern youth, but the Vatican weekly L'Osservatore Della Domenica said March 1 that the church had not condemned all beat music. It expressed hope that such music could develop into a form fitting to religious rites.

The church's 61 national and regional conferences of bishops were given the task of putting the new rules into operation. They were told to set up liturgical commissions on both the national and diocesan levels, with musical experts outside the church to be consulted.

Church of England Restores Symbolism

LONDON (AP) — More symbolism will be added to baptism services in the Church of England through the use of candles and the sign of the cross, the Archbishop of Canterbury announced Tuesday.

Dr. Michael Ramsey, spiritual leader of the church, told a news conference the use of candles would be "a very edifying and moving symbolism." He noted that in the ancient church, baptism was the "sacrament of light."

Papal Rules Open Way For Jazz Beat Rhythm

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI changed the rules for Roman Catholic church music Tuesday, opening the way to use of beat rhythms and jazz for sacred services.

The new regulations, issued to implement parts of the Vatican Council's 1963 decree on liturgy (public worship), are expected to revolutionize the music of the 2,000-year-old church. They go into effect on Pentecost Sunday, May 14.

The papal document calls for more singing in services, permits translation of Latin hymns into modern languages, recommends the use of instruments native to individual countries and cultures, and authorizes a period of wide experimentation to adapt modern musical forms and compositions to church use.

Beat music and jazz were not mentioned specifically. But there was no prohibition against them, and the document said new musical modes should be "held in honor, encouraged and used as the occasion demands."

The regulations were prepared by the Vatican's Congregation of Rites and a special liturgy commission named after the Ecumenical Council.

The Congregation of Rites in a declaration Jan. 4 protested against Masses "sometimes accompanied by music of a totally profane and worldly character, not worthy of a sacred action." This was generally considered a condemnation of the "jazz Masses" with which some priests sought to appeal to modern youth, but the Vatican weekly L'Osservatore Della Domenica said March 1 that the church had not condemned all beat music. It expressed hope that such music could develop into a form fitting to religious rites.

The church's 61 national and regional conferences of bishops were given the task of putting the new rules into operation. They were told to set up liturgical commissions on both the national and diocesan levels, with musical experts outside the church to be consulted.

Mrs. Talmer Wise Hosts Pathfinder Church Class

The Dorcas Pathfinders Class of Calvary EUB Church met in the home of Mrs. Talmer Wise, 146 E. Franklin St., with 15 members and three guests present.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Talmer Wise, with group singing. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Francis Davis. Minutes of the past meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Wise chose for the Scripture reading, Galatians 6:1-10.

Mrs. Wise read a letter of thanks from the Otterbein Home for the Aged for the box of gifts the class sent at Christmas time. Myrtle Leist reported on the Local Conference and Mrs. Mark DeLong asked for assistance with the flower committee and Leona Valentine was appointed as helper.

A motion was made and approved to the effect that if a member of church and class both passed away, the church would send flowers, however in case of sickness the class would send flowers to the member of the class.

Two Flowering plants will be bought for the sanctuary to be used at Easter, one being donated by one of the members in memory of her parents and the class buying one. These will later be given to shut-ins.

The class made a gift toward "One Great Hour of Offering" on Sunday, March 5. Mrs. Niswender asked the class to help reach the goal in Sunday School Class from now on until Easter and thereafter.

The secretary asked to see that all members were contacted and she made an announcement that all future class meetings would be put in the newspaper.

The next class meeting will be May 31, with a covered dish dinner, 12 noon in the Church Annex, with Myrtle Leist and Frances Davis in charge of refreshments. Grace DeLong will be in charge of devotions. This will be a friendship meeting with each member bringing one or two friends.

The guests present were: Mrs. Laura Hefner, Mrs. Marion DeLong and daughter, Melody.

Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Five Points WSCS Holds Active Meet

Presentation of new officers, future plans and reports of interest were made at the regular monthly meeting of the Five Points Methodist WSCS.

The meeting was held in the church basement, with ten members responding to roll call by naming a symbol of Easter. One guest, Mrs. Dorothy Tedrick of Goshen was also present.

The president, Mrs. Herman Porter, opened the meeting with group Bible reading of the 23rd Chapter of Luke. She also read an article, "The Resurrection."

Mrs. William Davis, secretary, read her report and a card of appreciation from Jimmy Gosard and family. An invitation was read from the Williamsport WSCS asking the group to join them for a school of instruction on March 14, at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Francis Furniss, treasurer, gave the financial report and also on the sale dinner last Wednesday at the Bowling Stock Yard in Circleville.

Plans were completed for the Rummage Sale and Bazaar to be held March 17 and 18 in the Masonic Temple Lobby in Circleville. Plans were also made in regard to the Easter Breakfast which will be held in the church.

Cards of cheer were signed by the group for Mrs. Howard Haller, Mrs. Madge Grabill and E. T. Liston.

The nominating committee presented the slate of officers for the coming year. They include: Mrs. Herman Porter, chairman; Mrs. Paul Moore, vice chairman; Mrs. Richard Redman, second vice chairman; Mrs. Clarence Finch, third vice chairman; Mrs. William Davis, secretary and Mrs. Francis Furniss, treasurer.

The meeting closed with all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Seasonal refreshments were served by Mrs. Turney Sheets, Mrs. E. L. Sheets and Mrs. Porter.

Circle 8 WSCS Slates Meeting

Diana Crabtree Becomes Bride of David Caudill

MRS. DAVID CAUDILL

The Church of the Nazarene was the setting for the Feb. 24 marriage of Miss Diana Crabtree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Crabtree, 404 Stella Ave., to Mr. David Caudill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caudill, 155 E. Mound St.

The candlelight ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. John W. Dennis. Prenuptial music was presented by the organist, Mrs. Fred Vogt.

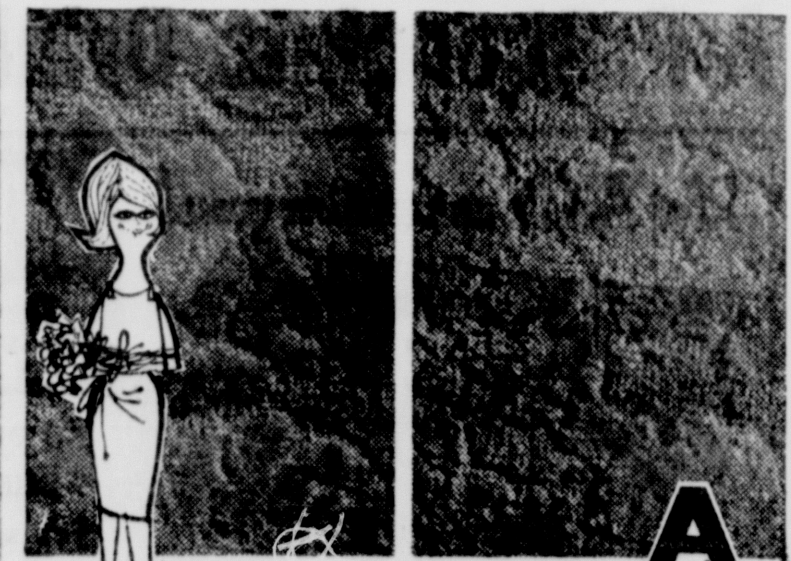

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau taffeta, designed with a princess front panel, crescent neckline and long sleeves tapering over her hands into points. The bouffant skirt featured a full back flowing gracefully into a chapel train and an obi bow accented the waist back.

Her bouffant veil of English silk illusion draped softly from an alencon lace petal plateau, accented with taffeta rosebuds and pearls, and she carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white pom poms centered with white carnations.

Mrs. Ruth Ditty attended as matron of honor. She wore a gown fashioned with a willow green velvet empire bodice, outlined with velvet daisies, crescent neckline, long sleeves and a lime green silk crepe floor length skirt. A streamered velvet bow enhanced the waist back. To complete her ensemble she wore a matching Dior bow with pouf face veil.

Bridesmaids were Miss Connie Crabtree, sister of the bride Miss Diane Rhymer and Mrs. Robert Brian Bell. They wore identical gowns to that of the matron of honor, fashioned with a rose velvet empire bodice and a pink crepe floor length skirt and matching Dior bows with pouf face veils. Their only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bride. Each carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white pom poms centered with pink carnations.

The flower girl was Rebecca Gumm. She wore a long sleeved, floor length gown of rose velvet. A streamered pink velvet bow enhanced the waist back.

Mrs. Marion's Class Meets

Mrs. Marion's Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church met Monday in the home of Mrs. Francis Cook, 109 Wilson Ave., with 16 members present.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Harold Critch. Appropriate devotions on Lent were given by Mrs. Leiland Dunkel.

Mrs. Margaret Johnson, secretary, read the minutes of the February meeting. Roll call and the treasurer report were given by Mrs. Forrest Thomerson.

Mrs. Dwight Steele, sunshine chairman, read a letter from Mrs. George Marion, the former teacher of the class. A St. Patrick's Day card was signed by all present to be sent to Mrs. Marion, who now lives in Columbus.

Mrs. Herbert Southward and Mrs. Dwight Steele reported on suggested projects for the class.

Ways and means chairman, Mrs. Daniel Eitel, reported for that committee and announced that an auction sale will be held during the April meeting.

The president appointed Mrs. Olan Bostwick and Mrs. Oscar Turner on the nominating committee.

The business meeting was closed with the class benediction.

Games were played, with prizes won by Mrs. Lucille Bostwick and Mrs. David Goldschmidt.

Refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's Day were served by Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Dunkel, Mrs. Earl Smith and Mrs. Virgil Cress.

The next meeting will be held April 3 in the home of Mrs. Clark McFarland with Mrs. Berman Wertman, Mrs. Frank Marion and Mrs. Glenn Hines assisting. Devotions will be in charge of Mrs. Wertman.

Boys and Girls IN SERVICE

Navy Fireman Paul E. Alspaugh of Stoutsville has returned to Alameda, Calif., aboard the USS Coral Sea, when the attack aircraft carrier completed her second tour of duty in the Vietnam war zone.

The 22-year old Navyman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis

PAUL E. ALSAUGH

Alspaugh who lives at Route 1, Stoutsville. He entered the Navy in 1965.

As a member of the Pipe Shop, he is responsible for the installation and maintenance of the miles of fuel and water pipes throughout the ship.

His work with the carrier's arterial system adds to the total efficiency of Coral Sea, making it that much more efficient in carrying out its mission.

Speaking of the importance of each man on this ship, Coral Sea's skipper, Captain Frank W. Ault, said, "Everyone serving on the Coral Sea is a member of our ship's fighting team. I consider his job, regardless of its physical remoteness from the actual flight operations, to be a very real and vital contribution to the success of these operations."

Pvt. Roger L. Dyke is spending a 24-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dyke, 353 E. Franklin St.

Pvt. Dyke arrived home Feb. 15 from Ft. Polk, La., where he received specialized training in construction and communications which included field wire and pole climbing.

He will report to the west coast Mar. 11 to embark for Saigon, Vietnam, where he will be assigned to HQ and HQ group to perform administrative work. Pvt. Dyke entered the army Sept. 1, 1966. He received his basic training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Army Private Renner C. Foster has been assigned to Co. E, 8th Battalion, of the 3rd Basic Combat Training Brigade at the Ft. Knox, Ky., Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA), for his initial eight weeks of military training.

He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's modern, action Army and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapon — the M14 rifle.

Following the completion of his basic training, Pvt. Foster who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Foster of Ashville, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

Airman 1-C and Mrs. James R. Franklin departed for San Antonio, Tex. after visiting several days with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin and Sherry, Route 3.

Airman Franklin will be stationed at Brooks Air Base this next year. His new address is Airman 1-C James R. Franklin, 421 Pennystone Ave., San Antonio, Tex.

Warren S. Lutz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Lutz Sr. of 132 Logar St., has been promoted to airman second class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Lutz is a medical administrative specialist at Whiteman AFB, Mo. He is a member of the Strategic Air Command which keeps the free world's mightiest missile and jet bomber force ready to counter any enemy threat.

The airman is a graduate of Circleville High School.

Army Private First Class Clarence E. Strausbaugh, 19, son of Mrs. Donna B. Thacker, New Holland, has been assigned to U. S. Army Strategic Communications Command in Vietnam.

Strausbaugh, a military policeman in U. S. Army Signal Security Force of the command's 1st Signal Brigade, entered the Army in August 1966 and was last stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

He was graduated in 1965 from Miami Trace High School near Washington C. H.

Private Joseph F. Crist has been assigned to the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA), Company D, 10th Battalion, of the 5th Basic Combat Training Brigade at Fort Knox, Ky., for his initial eight weeks of military training.

He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's modern, action Army, and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapon—the M14 rifle.

He will also be taught protective measures and first-aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks and close-in combat, and will be schooled also in the use of the hand grenade, bayonet and hand-to-hand combat.

Much of this instruction will be vividly illustrated by the latest visual-aid techniques and live demonstrations, and by living under actual field conditions for several days.

Interspersed with constant emphasis on proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following the completion of his basic training, Pvt. Crist who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Crist, of Route 4, Circleville, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

Robert Ogden Joins GE Here As Engineer

ROBERT G. OGDEN

Robert G. Ogden has joined General Electric as a project engineer, it was announced today by E. G. Grigg, local plant manager.

Ogden will be in the manufacturing engineering section, reporting to G. H. Schenck.

The project engineer was with General Electric Communications Product Department in Lynchburg, Va., as a member of the business training course. He has also worked for Industrial Nucleonics in Columbus, and for the State of Virginia as an industrial development representative.

Ogden earned a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and a master of science degree in business administration from the same university. He is married and has one son, Clay, 2.

The GE engineer currently is a member of the Local Conference of the Northwest EUB, and a member of the Circleville Toastmaster's Club. The Ogden's reside at 1192 Atwater Ave.

Editor Warns on Effort To Limit Role of Press

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "The records are considerable where innocent people have been convicted by juries and eventually been freed through the continuing efforts of a newspaper," a publisher says.

Richard H. Amberg, publisher of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, also maintains that "the courtroom belongs to the people — and not to the lawyer" in an attack on what he called "increasing efforts . . . to limit the role of newspapers in our society."

Amberg, in the first annual Jesse H. Fleck lecture at Le Moyne College, said recommendations by an American Bar Association committee "would severely limit what police and lawyers, on penalty of contempt rulings, can tell reporters about pending criminal cases."

"It should be utterly obvious that failure to obtain and print the news, when it is fresh news, hangs a veil of ignorance over the character of crime and criminal issues," he said.

Amberg noted recent restrictions on press coverage of criminal cases, including the trial of Richard Speck, who is accused in the murder of eight student nurses in Chicago.

Amberg said lawyers and bar associations were attempting to keep the processes of justice to themselves.

He added: "Since lawyers are advocates with a partisan interest in the proceedings of the court, I submit to you that there are actually only two people in the courtroom, except for the jury, who are interested in the triumph of justice. One of these is the judge, and the other is the newspaperman."

He said what was needed "was more information, rather than less."

"The concern of the bleeding hearts and do-gooders and their strange bedfellows, the defense lawyers, for years has been with the criminal," Amberg said.

"They talk piously of the need for a free trial, but what they suggest would lull the public to sleep, keep it unaware of the existence of a crime wave so that they can operate in a better atmosphere to secure acquittal of criminal clients."

Boys and Girls IN SERVICE

Navy Fireman Paul E. Alsbaugh of Stoutsville has returned to Alameda, Calif., aboard the USS Coral Sea, when the attack aircraft carrier completed her second tour of duty in the Vietnam war zone.

The 22-year old Navyman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis

PAUL E. ALSPAUGH

Alsbaugh who lives at Route 1, Stoutsville. He entered the Navy in 1965.

As a member of the Pipe Shop, he is responsible for the installation and maintenance of the miles of fuel and water pipes throughout the ship.

His work with the carrier's arterial system adds to the total efficiency of Coral Sea, making it that much more efficient in carrying out its mission.

Speaking of the importance of each man on this ship, Coral Sea's skipper, Captain Frank W. Ault, said, "Everyone serving on the Coral Sea is a member of our ship's fighting team. I consider his job, regardless of its physical remoteness from the actual flight operations, to be a very real and vital contribution to the success of these operations."

Pvt. Roger L. Dyke is spending a 24-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dyke of 353 E. Franklin St.

Pvt. Dyke arrived home Feb. 15 from Ft. Polk, La., where he received specialized training in construction and communications which included field wire and pole climbing.

He will report to the west coast Mar. 11 to embark for Saigon, Vietnam, where he will be assigned to HQ and HQ group to perform administrative work.

Pvt. Dyke entered the army Sept. 1, 1966. He received his basic training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Army Private Renner C. Foster has been assigned to Co. E, 8th Battalion, of the 3rd Basic Combat Training Brigade at the Ft. Knox, Ky., Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA), for his initial eight weeks of military training.

He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's modern, action Army and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapon — the M14 rifle.

Following the completion of his basic training, Pvt. Foster who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Foster of Ashville, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

Airman 1-C and Mrs. James R. Franklin departed for San Antonio, Tex., after visiting several days with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin and Sherry, Route 3.

Airman Franklin will be stationed at Brooks Air Base this next year. His new address is Airman 1-C James R. Franklin, 421 Pennystone Ave., San Antonio, Tex.

Warren S. Lutz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Lutz Sr. of 152 Logar St., has been promoted to airman second class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Lutz is a medical administrative specialist at Whiteman AFB, Mo. He is a member of the Strategic Air Command which keeps the free world's mightiest missile and jet bomber force ready to counter any enemy threat.

The airman is a graduate of Circleville High School.

Army Private First Class Clarence E. Strausbaugh, 19, son of Mrs. Donna B. Thacker, New Holland, has been assigned to U. S. Army Strategic Communications Command in Vietnam.

Strausbaugh, a military policeman in U. S. Army Signal Security Force of the command's 1st Signal Brigade, entered the Army in August 1966 and was last stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

He was graduated in 1965 from Miami Trace High School near Washington C. H.

Private Joseph F. Crist has been assigned to the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA), Company D, 10th Battalion, of the 5th Basic Combat Training Brigade at Fort Knox, Ky., for his initial eight weeks of military training.

He will spend the next two months learning all the fundamental skills of a soldier in today's modern, action Army, and will fire more than 500 rounds of live ammunition under simulated combat situations, including those encountered at night, during a three-week course with the soldier's basic weapon—the M14 rifle.

He will also be taught protective measures and first-aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks and close-in combat, and will be schooled also in the use of the hand grenade, bayonet and hand-to-hand combat.

Much of this instruction will be vividly illustrated by the latest visual-aid techniques and live demonstrations, and by living under actual field conditions for several days.

Interspersed with constant emphasis on proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following the completion of his basic training, Pvt. Crist who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Crist, of Route 4, Circleville, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

Robert Ogden Joins GE Here As Engineer

ROBERT G. OGDEN

Robert G. Ogden has joined General Electric as a project engineer, it was announced today by E. G. Grigg, local plant manager.

Ogden will be in the manufacturing engineering section, reporting to G. H. Schenck.

The project engineer was with General Electric Communications Product Department in Lynchburg, Va., as a member of the business training course. He has also worked for Industrial Nucleonics in Columbus, and for the State of Virginia as an industrial development representative.

Ogden earned a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and a master of science degree in business administration from the same university. He is married and has one son, Clay, 2.

The GE engineer currently is a member of the Local Conference of the Northwest EUB, and a member of the Circleville Toastmaster's Club. The Ogden's reside at 1192 Atwater Ave.

Lancaster Man Sentenced to Penitentiary

Richard Randolph of Lancaster, father of two children, has been sentenced to a term of 10 to 25 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Found guilty of armed robbery by a Pickaway County Common Pleas Court jury Tuesday afternoon, Randolph was sentenced by Judge William Ammer shortly before noon today.

Randolph, according to testimony of witnesses during the two-day trial and by his own admission, held the gun during the Dec. 12 robbery at Gourmet Corner.

Two other men, Ralph Binkley and John Marvin Thomas, also allegedly involved in the holdup, will be tried at a later date.

Eccard Due On Television Bowl Show

Walter T. Eccard, a junior at Capital University and a member of the school's debate team, will appear on NBC's College Bowl scheduled 5:30 p. m. Mar. 12.

The school winning the contest will be the recipient of a $1500 scholarship grant, the loser a $500 grant.

In the next weekly colorcast the victor will be challenged by a new contender. If any one school wins five times straight it must retire from further competition.

The program's sponsor, General Electric, has awarded almost $600,000 in scholarship grants since the program's beginning on NBC radio in 1953.

Eccard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Eccard of Quaker Hill, Conn. The family formerly resided in Circleville when Eccard was principal of the South Bloomfield School.

The grandfather, Walter H. Eccard, and an aunt, Helen Eccard reside on Route 3. Another aunt, Ruth Eccard Eblin, is presently a teacher in the Circleville School system.

Linton Gets New Post at Mead Corp.

Jack E. Linton of 892 N. Court Street has been promoted to superintendent of No. 2 paper mill at the Mead Corporation's Chillicothe Division.

Linton joined Mead after graduation from Ohio University in June 1959. He has moved up through the ranks from technical service trainee in 1959, junior engineer in 1960, assistant superintendent at the No. 2 plant in 1963, to his present position.

Linton has been active in the Heart Fund Drive and was elected chairman in the 1964 fund raising campaign.

Why "Good-Time" Charlie Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense and uncomfortable. Doan's Pills often help to bring prompt relief in two ways: 1) their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation; and 2) a mild diuretic action through the kidneys tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills. With their speedy pain-relieving action, Doan's Pills work promptly to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. So get the same happy relief that millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. For convenience, use Doan's Pills large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

Reports from Committees Head Chamber Agenda

Board members of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce conducted their third monthly meeting of the year Tuesday by completing a heavy docket of committee reports.

Most of the panel rundowns focused on functions already completed, those under way and several planned for the future. The descriptions were presented by various committee chairmen or their representatives.

Offering the reports were: E. G. Parsons, area development; Ed Frericks, congressional action; Dr. Robert Phillips, safety and health; Keith Wagner, Pickaway Engineering Department for submission to the county commissioners.

Johnson noted that current information indicates detailed plans and specifications for a proposed county airstrip in Washington Twp. will be completed by next week as the initial step in advertising for project bids. The necessary information is being drafted by the Pickaway Engineering Depart-

What Can Jimmy Hoffa Expect as Prison Inmate?

WASHINGTON (AP) — For James R. Hoffa of the good suits and neat appearance, prison means blue or khaki work clothes and a haircut from the prison barber.

He made $100,000 a year as president of the Teamsters Union. In prison he can spend $15 a month in the commissary — and that only if he behaves. He can have an account, but no money in his pockets. He won't see cash again until he gets out of prison.

The U.S. Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., planned destination for Hoffa Tuesday, is a maximum security unit with 1,400 inmates behind a high wall.

After he gets to prison, Hoffa must put on its garb immediately and send his belongings home.

For 30 days he will be in the admission and orientation unit, which is separate from the general prison. Here, as is normal for all prisoners, Hoffa will undergo physical, psychiatric and aptitude tests.

Business Briefs

Awarded prizes at the Valentine Radio and Television formal opening were:

Mrs. Ruth Moffitt of 404 E. Mound St., a portable TV, first prize; Becky McCoy of 933 S. Pickaway St., AM-FM radio, second prize; Mrs. Alvin Recob of Route 1, Ashville and Mrs. Ida Price of Junction City, AM radios.

During this time a prisoner normally does maintenance work, in the kitchen, laundry or around the grounds. If he does a good job he gets meritorious pay, $10 to $15 a month.

After the orientation period, Hoffa will move to his permanent cell. He may be by himself, with two or three others, or in a dormitory with 30 to 40 prisoners.

Hoffa can read about prison on the trip there, for he will be handed a little pamphlet called "Questions and Answers About Federal Correctional Institutions."

It asks and answers questions like these:

How many letters may I write? Normally three a week.

Can I have my guitar? With special permission.

How can I take care of my business while in confinement? You must appoint someone else to run your business while you are confined.

Hoffa, who never finished high school, can take courses leading to a diploma in his spare time at the penitentiary. He can watch television some evening hours and a movie on Saturday and Sunday.

He'll also be assigned a regular job at from $30 to $70 a month. It could be in the prison's metal furniture factory or its clothing factory.

Or, says the federal pamphlet after noting that the job depends partly upon the inmate's qualifications and interests: "Assignments may range . . . to truck driving."

ment for submission to the county commissioners.

PARSONS reported that his development group has arranged a meeting for Mar. 10 with several state and area industrial officials. He said the gathering will serve as a get-acquainted session.

General comments on a regional Chamber meeting at Lexington, Ky., were presented by Frericks. He said highlights of the session centered on the free enterprise system and the impact government controls could have on industry, a review on the need for stepped up county and state government functions and some of the reasons behind failure of local taxation issues.

Numerous projects are under study by the safety and health group, according to Dr. Phillips. Included are fire prevention, industrial, farm and home safety, defensive driving, resuscitation, installation of directional signals to Berger Hospital, crosswalks and school zone signs and markers, bicycle training, a disaster plan in conjunction with a program at the hospital and a combined city-county health board program.

The retail merchants committee has completed its program of promotional events for the remainder of the year. A copy of the schedule will be included in the Chamber's monthly newsletter to members.

The public relations panel is working on two projects, Smallwood reported. One is devoted to updating the Chamber's "Meet Circleville" brochure and the other concerns a special observance for Chamber of Commerce Week which is scheduled April 2-8.

Liggett reported that Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, the community's outstanding young man for 1966, is one of 30 candidates being considered for state honors. Five top nominees will be selected at a Jaycees function this weekend in Cincinnati.

ACCORDING to Wagner, his group has welcomed the local Sturm & Dillard firm as a new member. Joe Jenkins of Jenkins Sunoco Service was welcomed as a guest at the Pickaway Arms luncheon session.

The session included a round of picture taking, under the direction of Ned Schreiner. Posing for the group snaps were board members and various committee chairmen.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

No Way To Find New Husband

DEAR ABBY: I am an unwed mother, age 24. My daughter, Nancy, is nearly six years old and she is my problem. We live with my parents, and no matter who I bring home, Nancy doesn't like him.

When I ask her if she wouldn't like to have a "Daddy," she says she already has one. (She calls my father "Daddy," although she knows he is really her grandfather.) What am I going to do? I love my daughter, but I would like to marry again, and at this rate I don't have a chance.

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: When you meet the man you want to marry, bring him home and introduce him to your daughter as YOUR "future husband." In other words, leave the word "Daddy" out of it. Nancy has known only one "Daddy" (your father) so she can't be blamed for rejecting every man who threatens to replace him.

If you appear more concerned with providing your daughter with a new "Daddy" than finding yourself a new husband, Nancy will get married before you do.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law gave me a beautiful hostess gown for my birthday. I thanked her for it and thought it was a lovely gift. Then she told me that she had originally bought it for herself a few months before, but she decided that she didn't like it well enough to wear, so she gave it to me.

That spoiled the gift for me, and now I can't enjoy wearing it, so it's still in the box.

What do you think of a sister-in-law who would say such a thing? And what should I do with the gift?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Your sister-in-law is either unbelievably thoughtless or just plain stupid. In any case, since you can't enjoy wearing it, give it to someone who doesn't know its history.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine — not a very close friend, but we are in the same circle has a nasty little habit. She goes into other people's refrigerators on the pretense of "getting a glass of water." She says she doesn't like to bother the hostess so she helps herself.

I am a good housekeeper and keep things orderly, so it's not that I'm ashamed of what she might see, but I do not like to have strangers "casing" my refrigerator. How can I get this nosy person to cease this annoying practice?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Make sure there is a pitcher of ice water and plenty of glasses handy when you know the "caser" is coming. If she invents another excuse to go into your refrigerator, put a padlock on it for her next visit. She'll get the message.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "INHIBITED" IN OKLAHOMA CITY: You wouldn't allow an amateur surgeon to remove your appendix, would you? Then why should you allow an amateur "psychiatrist" to attempt to remove your inhibitions? Your family physician can refer you to a competent, reputable psychotherapist. I urge you ask for his recommendation, and to accept it.

South Central Elks Meeting Is Scheduled

The South Central District meeting of the Ohio Elks Assn. will be held Saturday and Sunday at Athens Lodge.

Winning officers in the recent district ritualistic contest held at Portsmouth will fill the chairs during an initiation.

District officers and chairmen of Elk committees will also be nominated during the meeting.

Registration for the weekend event will begin at noon Saturday in the lodge club rooms. A dance is scheduled Saturday beginning 10 p. m. Music will be furnished by Virgil Drumm and the casuals of Zanesville.

The business functions will be held Sunday beginning 10 a. m., with the main session scheduled for 2 p. m. During the business activity a party will be held for the ladies. Dinner will be served at 5 p. m.

Lodge Is Handed 21-Day Suspension

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has released a final disposition on the charges filed last October against the local FOE Lodge.

The Aerie originally was cited for three violations. However, one citation was dismissed. The Liquor Board's accusations against the Aerie were for the sale of intoxicating beverages to non-members and the possession of devices considered to be used in gambling, more commonly known as tip tickets.

The board placed the organization under license suspension for 21 days on each charge. Both suspensions are to run concurrently from Mar. 29 to April 19.

Lancaster Man Sentenced to Penitentiary

Richard Randolph of Lancaster, father of two children, has been sentenced to a term of 10 to 25 years in the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Found guilty of armed robbery by a Pickaway County Common Pleas Court jury Tuesday afternoon, Randolph was sentenced by Judge William Ammer shortly before noon today.

Randolph, according to testimony of witnesses during the two-day trial and by his own admission, held the gun during the Dec. 12 robbery at Gourmet Corner.

Two other men, Ralph Binkley and John Marvin Thomas, also allegedly involved in the holdup, will be tried at a later date.

Eccard Due On Television Bowl Show

Walter T. Eccard, a junior at Capital University and a member of the school's debate team, will appear on NBC's College Bowl scheduled 5:30 p. m. Mar. 12.

The school winning the contest will be the recipient of a $1500 scholarship grant, the loser a $500 grant.

In the next weekly colorcast the victor will be challenged by a new contender. If any one school wins five times straight it must retire from further competition.

The program's sponsor, General Electric, has awarded almost $600,000 in scholarship grants since the program's beginning on NBC radio in 1953.

Eccard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Eccard of Quaker Hill, Conn. The family formerly resided in Circleville when Eccard was principal of the South Bloomfield School.

The grandfather, Walter H. Eccard, and an aunt, Helen Eccard reside on Route 3. Another aunt, Ruth Eccard Eblin, is presently a teacher in the Circleville School system.

Linton Gets New Post at Mead Corp.

Jack E. Linton of 892 N. Court Street has been promoted to superintendent of No. 2 paper mill at the Mead Corporation's Chillicothe Division.

Linton joined Mead after graduation from Ohio University in June 1959. He has moved up through the ranks from technical service trainee in 1959, junior engineer in 1960, assistant superintendent at the No. 2 plant in 1963, to his present position.

Linton has been active in the Heart Fund Drive and was elected chairman in the 1964 fund raising campaign.

Reports from Committees Head Chamber Agenda

Board members of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce conducted their third monthly meeting of the year Tuesday by completing a heavy docket of committee reports.

Most of the panel rundowns focused on functions already completed, those under way and several planned for the future. The descriptions were presented by various committee chairmen or their representatives.

Offering the reports were: E. G. Parsons, area development; Ed Frericks, congressional action; Dr. Robert Phillips, safety and health; Keith Wagner, membership; Paul Smallwood, public relations; Dr. Robert Liggett, Junior Chamber activities; Robert Wilson, Parking Lot Corp. representative; and president Robert Johnson for the airport—retail merchants and community appearance panels.

Johnson noted that current information indicates detailed plans and specifications for a proposed county airstrip in Washington Twp. will be completed by next week as the initial step in advertising for project bids. The necessary information is being drafted by the Pickaway Engineering Department.

What Can Jimmy Hoffa Expect as Prison Inmate?

WASHINGTON (AP) — For James R. Hoffa of the good suits and neat appearance, prison means blue or khaki work clothes and a haircut from the prison barber.

He made $100,000 a year as president of the Teamsters Union. In prison he can spend $15 a month in the commissary — and that only if he behaves. He can have an account, but no money in his pockets. He won't see cash again until he gets out of prison.

The U.S. Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., planned destination for Hoffa Tuesday, is a maximum security unit with 1,400 inmates behind a high wall.

After he gets to prison, Hoffa must put on its garb immediately and send his belongings home.

For 30 days he will be in the admission and orientation unit, which is separate from the general prison. Here, as is normal for all prisoners, Hoffa will undergo physical, psychiatric and aptitude tests.

Business Briefs

Awarded prizes at the Valentine Radio and Television formal opening were:

Mrs. Ruth Moffitt of 404 E. Mound St., a portable TV, first prize; Becky McCoy of 933 S. Pickaway St., AM-FM radio, second prize; Mrs. Alvin Reeds of Route 1, Ashville and Mrs. Ida Price of Junction City, AM radios.

During this time a prisoner normally does maintenance work, in the kitchen, laundry or around the grounds. If he does a good job he gets meritorious pay, $10 to $15 a month.

After the orientation period, Hoffa will move to his permanent cell. He may be by himself, with two or three others, or in a dormitory with 30 to 40 prisoners.

Hoffa can read about prison on the trip there, for he will be handed a little pamphlet called "Questions and Answers About Federal Correctional Institutions."

It asks and answers questions like these:

How many letters may I write? Normally three a week.

Can I have my guitar? With special permission.

How can I take care of my business while in confinement? You must appoint someone else to run your business while you are confined.

Hoffa, who never finished high school, can take courses leading to a diploma in his spare time at the penitentiary. He can watch television some evening hours and a movie on Saturday and Sunday.

He'll also be assigned a regular job at from $30 to $70 a month. It could be in the prison's metal furniture factory or its clothing factory.

Or, says the federal pamphlet after noting that the job depends partly upon the inmate's qualifications and interests: "Assignments may range . . . to truck driving."

ment for submission to the county commissioners.

PARSONS reported that his development group has arranged a meeting for Mar. 10 with several state and area industrial officials. He said the gathering will serve as a get-acquainted session.

General comments on a Lexington, Ky., were presented by Frericks. He said highlights of the session centered on the free enterprise system and the impact government controls could have on industry, a review on the need for stepped up county and state government functions and some of the reasons behind failure of local taxation issues.

Numerous projects are under study by the safety and health group, according to Dr. Phillips. Included are fire prevention, industrial, farm and home safety, defensive driving, resuscitation, installation of directional signals to Berger Hospital, crosswalks and school zone signs and markers, bicycle training, a disaster plan in conjunction with a program at the hospital and a combined city-county health board program.

The retail merchants committee has completed its program of promotional events for the remainder of the year. A copy of the schedule will be included in the Chamber's monthly newsletter to members.

The public relations panel is working on two projects, Smallwood reported. One is devoted to updating the Chamber's "Meet Circleville" brochure and the other concerns a special observance for Chamber of Commerce Week which is scheduled April 2-8.

Liggett reported that Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, the community's outstanding young man for 1966, is one of 30 candidates being considered for state honors. Five top nominees will be selected at a Jaycee function this weekend in Cincinnati.

ACCORDING to Wagner, his group has welcomed the local Sturm & Dillard firm as a new member. Joe Jenkins of Jenkins Sunoco Service was welcomed as a guest at the Pickaway Arms luncheon session.

The session included a round of picture taking, under the direction of Ned Schreiner. Posing for the group snaps were board members and various committee chairmen.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

No Way To Find New Husband

DEAR ABBY: I am an unwed mother, age 24. My daughter, Nancy, is nearly six years old and she is my problem. We live with my parents, and no matter who I bring home, Nancy doesn't like him.

When I ask her if she wouldn't like to have a "Daddy," she says she already has one. (She calls my father "Daddy," altho she knows he is really her grandfather.) What am I going to do? I love my daughter, but I would like to marry again, and at this rate I don't have a chance.

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: When you meet the man you want to marry, bring him home and introduce him to your daughter as YOUR "future husband." In other words, leave the word "Daddy" out of it. Nancy has known only one "Daddy" (your father) so she can't be blamed for rejecting every man who threatens to replace him.

If you appear more concerned with providing your daughter with a new "Daddy" than finding yourself a new husband, Nancy will get married before you do.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law gave me a beautiful hostess gown for my birthday. I thanked her for it and thought it was a lovely gift. Then she told me that she had originally bought it for herself a few months before, but she decided that she didn't like it well enough to wear, so she gave it to me.

That spoiled the gift for me, and now I can't enjoy wearing it, so it's still in the box.

What do you think of a sister-in-law who would say such a thing? And what should I do with the gift?

HURT

DEAR HURT: Your sister-in-law is either unbelievably thoughtless or just plain stupid. In any case, since you can't enjoy wearing it, give it to someone who doesn't know its history.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine — not a very close friend, but we are in the same circle has a nasty little habit. She goes into other people's refrigerators on the pretense of "getting a glass of water." She says she doesn't like to bother the hostess so she helps herself.

I am a good housekeeper and keep things orderly, so it's not that I'm ashamed of what she might see, but I do not like to have strangers "casing" my refrigerator. How can I get this nosy person to cease this annoying practice?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Make sure there is a pitcher of ice water and plenty of glasses handy when you know the "caser" is coming. If she invents another excuse to go into your refrigerator, put a padlock on it for her next visit. She'll get the message.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "INHIBITED" IN OKLAHOMA CITY: You wouldn't allow an amateur surgeon to remove your appendix, would you? Then why should you allow an amateur "psychiatrist" to attempt to remove your inhibitions? Your family physician can refer you to a competent, reputable psychotherapist. I urge you ask for his recommendation, and to accept it.

South Central Elks Meeting Is Scheduled

The South Central District meeting of the Ohio Elks Assn. will be held Saturday and Sunday at Athens Lodge.

Winning officers in the recent district ritualistic contest held at Portsmouth will fill the chairs during an initiation.

District officers and chairmen of Elk committees will also be nominated during the meeting.

Registration for the weekend event will begin at noon Saturday in the lodge club rooms. A dance is scheduled Saturday beginning 10 p. m. Music will be furnished by Virgil Drumm and the casuals of Zanesville.

The business sessions will be held Sunday beginning 10 a. m., with the main session scheduled for 2 p. m. During the business ladies party will be held for the ladies. Dinner will be served at 5 p. m.

Laser Research Is Now Probing Its Dark Side

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Some danger signals are flashing in the pathway of the laser, perhaps the most powerful form of light in the universe.

But the laser, developed only six years ago, is already finding hundreds of uses in industry, medicine, military operation and space flight.

Some of the problem areas: —One scientist said treating cancer with lasers might cause the cancer to spread. Another scientist said he had treated 100 cancer cases and never seen such effects.

—Warning of "instant blindness" from looking directly at laser beams. This might apply to high school students using make-it-yourself laser kits, or to soldiers exposed to laser beams from artillery range-finders.

Some of the uses, present or under study, range from tracking satellites to helping lay sewer pipes, from removing warts and tattoo marks to punching die holes in diamonds and from detecting art frauds to furnishing artillery range fingers more accurate than ada.

Detecting poison gas, illuminating targets on a battlefield at night, tracking enemy missiles, digging tunnels.

Helping make new chemical products from coal, slicing chromosomes within living cells, much like a meatcutter slices baloney. Carrying millions of telephone conversations literally on the wings of light, peering into ocean depths to find wrecked submarines and perhaps sunken treasure, mapping the moon and the planets with pencils of light shot from earth, diagnosing certain diseases by harmlessly vaporizing a liver of human tissue and analyzing the "moie."

Research and development employing lasers is going on in hundreds of industrial laboratories universities and military installations throughout the country. Lasers have become big business.

Estimates are that the sale of

Ohio U Can't Deduct Dues From Paychecks

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio University administration, citing legal precedent, maintains it cannot deduct union dues from employee paychecks.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers, citing state law, maintains the university can implement dues checkoffs if it chooses.

And with that impasse, the strike of nonacademic Ohio U. employees, went into its third day today.

Pickets have halted about $17 million in construction work on work on the campus including new dormitories, a library and a convocation center, with construction workers refusing to cross picket lines.

The union claims it had 150 members picketing Monday and has approximately 600 of the 1,300 Ohio U. nonteaching personnel pledged to join and pay dues.

DEAD IN ROME—Russian-born American actor Misha Auer, 62, died of a heart attack in Rome, where he had been scheduled to start work in an Italian movie the following week.

lasers—from hand-held models teaching model to $5,000 and up to 60-foot-long monsters—will top $150 million in 1967, and reach a billion dollars by 1970. Present prices range from about $150 for a high school stimulated emission of radiation," in brief a laser is a device for generating an intense nondiffusing beam of visible or invisible light.

Laser beams contrast sharply with waves of ordinary light, or with radio waves, which spread in all directions. Laser beams are made up of essentially of only one wavelength, and all the waves of a given beam move in step and in one direction — like soldiers in a marching column. Therein lies the secret of the laser's enormous power.

Outside a laboratory in Maryland, a few nights each month, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are carrying on pioneering experiments aimed at developing a deep space communications system employing lasers.

They are using laser beam to track several of the Explorer satellites—at ranges up to nearly 1,000 miles. And they say the probing laser beams—made to echo off the satellites—can pinpoint the position of a given spacecraft to within three feet. That's 10 times the accuracy achievable with either radar or radio.

As regards military use of lasers as a sort of ray gun, Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Pinon, commander of the Air Force Office of Aerospace Research says:

"We're looking into it, but at the present time I do not see any specific (antipersonnel) weapons applications of the laser. That isn't to say there isn't one."

Scientists say the eye is the organ most vulnerable to damage from laser light. This is because the eye—equipped with a lens—can further focus the powerful beam.

Scientists of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology are trying to define safe limits of laser radiation exposure for various parts of the body. Some of their findings are dramatic. They have found, for example, that laser beams of comparatively low energies, if directed at close range through the exposed scalp of a guinea pig, can actually cause the creature's brain to explode. This results from water in the living tissue being converted to highpressure steam by the heat from the laser radiation.

Laser Research Is Now Probing Its Dark Side

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some danger signals are flashing in the pathway of the laser, perhaps the most powerful form of light in the universe.

But the laser, developed only six years ago, is already finding hundreds of uses in industry, medicine, military operation and space flight.

Some of the problem areas:

—One scientist said treating cancer with lasers might cause the cancer to spread. Another scientist said he had treated 100 cancer cases and never seen such effects.

—Warning of "instant blindness" from looking directly at laser beams. This might apply to high school students using make-it-yourself laser kits, or to soldiers exposed to laser beams from artillery range-finders.

Some of the uses, present or under study, range from tracking satellites to helping lay sewer pipes, from removing warts and tattoo marks to punching die holes in diamonds and from detecting art frauds to furnishing artillery range finders more accurate than ada.

New ideas for potential uses include:

Detecting poison gas, illuminating targets on a battlefield at night, tracking enemy missiles, digging tunnels.

Helping make new chemical products from coal, slicing chromosomes within living cells, much like a meatcutter slices baloney. Carrying millions of telephone conversations literally on the wings of light, peering into ocean depths to find wrecked submarines and perhaps sunken treasure, mapping the moon and the planets with pencils of light shot from earth, diagnosing certain diseases by harmlessly vaporizing a liver of human tissue and analyzing the "moie."

Research and development employing lasers is going on in hundreds of industrial laboratories universities and military installations throughout the country. Lasers have become big business.

Estimates are that the sale of

Ohio U Can't Deduct Dues From Paychecks

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio University administration, citing legal precedent, maintains it cannot deduct union dues from employee paychecks.

The American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers, citing state law, maintains the university can implement dues checkoffs if it chooses.

And with that impasse, the strike of nonacademic Ohio U. employees, went into its third day today.

Pickets have halted about $17 million in construction work on work on the campus including new dormitories, a library and a convocation center, with construction workers refusing to cross picket lines.

The union claims it had 150 members picketing Monday and has approximately 600 of the 1,300 Ohio U. nonteaching personnel pledged to join and pay dues.

lasers—from hand-held models to 60-foot-long monsters—will top $150 million in 1967, and reach a billion dollars by 1970. Present prices range from about $100 for a high school stimulated emission of radiation," in brief a laser is a device for generating an intense nondiffusing beam of visible or invisible light.

Laser beams contrast sharply with waves of ordinary light, or with radio waves, which spread in all directions. Laser beams are made up of essentially of only one wavelength, and all the waves of a given beam move in step and in one direction — like soldiers in a marching column. Therein lies the secret of the laser's enormous power.

Outside a laboratory in Maryland, a few nights each month, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are carrying on pioneering experiments aimed at developing a deep space communications system employing lasers.

They are using laser beam to track several of the Explorer satellites—at ranges up to nearly 1,000 miles. And they say the probing laser beams—made to echo off the satellites—can pinpoint the position of a given spacecraft to within three feet. That's 10 times the accuracy achievable with either radar or radio.

As regards military use of lasers as a sort of ray gun, Brig. Gen. Ernest A. Pinon, commander of the Air Force Office of Aerospace Research says:

"We're looking into it, but at the present time I do not see any specific (antipersonnel) weapons applications of the laser. That isn't to say there isn't one."

Scientists say the eye is the organ most vulnerable to damage from laser light. This is because the eye—equipped with a lens—can further focus the powerful beam.

Scientists of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology are trying to define safe limits of laser radiation exposure for various parts of the body. Some of their findings are dramatic. They have found, for example, that laser beams of comparatively low energies, if directed at close range through the exposed scalp of a guinea pig, can actually cause the creature's brain to explode. This results from water in the living tissue being converted to high-pressure steam by the heat from the laser radiation.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, going through three phases in his public relations since taking over the White House in 1963, was hit on a cool, middle-ground where he is likely to stay.

He was fiercely driving and rebellious at first, so obviously anxious to be liked he looked awkward; then he became so reticent he almost disappeared from view; now he plays it straight and dead pan.

This third role has helped him. That's why he will probably maintain it until the end of his presidency, whether it's in 1969 or 1973.

Johnson was a man of lunging energy, an arm-around-the-shoulders and let's-reason-together kind of man, who tried to get things done amicably in his six years as Democratic leader in the Senate.

That he was politically ambitious then, with his eyes on the White House, became plain when he tried for it in 1960. He didn't say much on the Senate floor in his leadership days there, which was contrary to his nature. In private he talked a torrent. But he did his talking and persuading with the temperamental senators behind the scenes.

He wanted to get along, to be liked. It was one of the best ways to get things done in the Senate where his achievements were later to be the foundation for his bid for the presidency.

In the process he became the best Senate leader in his century, perhaps in American history. For a while after President John F. Kennedy's death, Johnson was rather muted.

But when he got adjusted to his new job, he became his old Senate self, although there was a difference in the two jobs.

The White House job required public appearances and pronouncements and, by way of television, direct relations with the whole country. In that situation there was no place for the arm-around-the-shoulders system. He was awkward, particularly on television where his gestures, his facial expressions and even his rhetoric looked and sounded like pleas to be liked.

He compounded his problem by appearing impetuous at times, as, for instance, in his repeated appearances on television to explain American involvement in the Dominican Republic revolt. Gradually, his standing in the public opinion polls went down, although the Vietnam war helped do that.

Last summer it seemed questionable he could win re-election in 1968. His Democrats badly needed help in the 1966 election campaigns but he made relatively few campaign trips or speeches for them.

There was even this kind of gruesome political talk: If he did campaign for the Democrats, he would be a liability. Just as the campaign heated up he withdrew himself by making a trip to the Far East for about 17 days.

The country did not realize it at the time but this was the beginning of Johnson's withdrawal into silence. When he returned, although there were still a few days for speeches he disappeared from view as in with the explanation that he needed surgery.

But he wasn't operated upon until eight days after the election, in which the Democrats took a beating. Then, after the hospital stay, Johnson withdrew to Texas and stayed there almost entirely to year's end.

His first return to full view was a televised news conference Dec. 31. He was a changed man. A Gone were the gestures, the facial expressions, the longing look. He performed straight-faced, and has done so ever since.

The first thought in mind in watching the new Johnson is that he has been well-coached by experts in his public appearances. His aides deny it. But the new style has shown results. The criticism has died down.

And he seems far less compelled to mount the barricade against such criticism as he does get.

TODAY In History

Today is Wednesday, March 8, the 67th day of 1967. There are 298 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1958, the battleship Wisconsin joined the mothball fleet, leaving the Navy without a single active battleship for the first time since 1895.

On this date: In 1848, the expedition under John Charles Fremont reached Sutter's Fort, Calif.

In 1930, former President William Howard Taft died.

In 1950, the first shipment of arms from the United States to Europe under the terms of the North Atlantic Mutual Defense Treaty was loaded at Norfolk, Va.

Ten years ago—The U.N. General Assembly rejected a Soviet effort to bar future debate on the Hungarian situation. The assembly passed a resolution recessing its session, but allowing the 81 members to be recalled as necessary to discuss Hungary or the Middle East.

Five years ago — A bill to increase the permanent membership of the House of Representatives from 435 to 438 was killed when it was sent back to committee by a voice vote. The measure would have given an additional House seat to Massachusetts, Missouri and Pennsylvania.

One year ago — Anti-Communist students sacked the Indonesian foreign ministry in Jakarta.

Patty May, Janie Jenkins Are Acclaimed Winners in Sertoma Club Essay Contest

Two Circleville 7th graders have been acclaimed for their literary efforts in the Freedom Essay contest sponsored by the local Sertoma Club.

Awarded $25 savings bonds by the Sertoma were Janie Jenkins and Patty May. Both their essays followed the theme "What I Can Do for My Country."

Miss May is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph May Jr., 1134 Atwater Ave. Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins of 656 E. Mount St.

The contest was open to all 7th grade students in the city. Miss Jenkins attends Circleville Junior High School and Miss May is a pupil at St. Joseph's School.

HERE are their essays:

By JANIE JENKINS

At my age I don't think I could do very much for America. Yet when I stop and think, I guess there are many things I can do.

First, I love my country. I respect our flag and like our democratic way of life. I can learn as much as possible to help myself and others. I can live a good and patriotic way of life.

I can learn as much as possible about our country and our way of government. When I am older I can choose my own political party, as this is a free country.

I am a Methodist in faith, yet if I decide to change religion I can. We are a free people and can make a choice in our faith, politics, work, and education. I can help children of my own age to have respect for each other and our elders. I can make as many friends as possible since I believe friendship helps toward curbing crime in America. I expect to do the best I can with my life.

Even though I do not know the right words to express my thoughts, I enjoyed entering this contest to see for myself what I can do for America. I have never thought about it before.

By PATTY MAY

What can I do for my country? My country means a great deal to me. It means freedom of religious beliefs, freedom of protection in time of war, and freedom of living.

What can I, as a child, do for the development of my country? I can do my best to uphold the laws of my government, state and city and I can try to be a good citizen.

As a child I can't do much for juvenile delinquency but I can try to keep my friends on the right track towards good upstanding adults.

In school it is important to work and get good grades now for a good education government in the near future.

Many people believe that only men have to get a good education and that women can't do anything for our government. This is not true.

Women need educations too, because down through the history of mankind women have had great influence on the great leaders of our country.

We, as children, should learn about our government and its connection with world affairs. We should learn the history of our United States and the wars and battles we have fought and won through an educated and experienced government.

Liberalized Law On Abortion Killed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The drive to broaden New York State's 84-year-old abortion law was stemmed Tuesday when the Assembly Codes Committee killed the Blumenthal bill.

Under present law, abortion is permitted only if the mother's life otherwise would be lost. The Blumenthal measure would have created several new legal grounds for abortion.

Danny Kaye Will Do Show Around 'Giovanni' Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Ladies and gentlemen, the last four years have been the wonderful experience of my life. It has been a pleasure to entertain you, and now, until we meet again—good night."

This speech will not be heard when Danny Kaye appears on the last show of his CBS series on April 12. Reruns will follow until June 7.

"There won't be any speeches, no bursts of sentiment," the comic vows. "I'll just do the last show, and that will be that."

But he does plan to spring some surprises on his loyal viewers in the Wednesday night spot. For instance, he is offering a five-act original musical based on one of his favorite characters, the Italian immigrant Giovanni.

He explained: "I'm in love with Giovanni. He's a warm, funny, universal human being. One day we were setting around dreaming up ideas for the show, and I said, 'Hey—why don't we do something wild for one of the last shows—a complete musical about Giovanni?' The results can be seen on the tube tonight.

The Kaye era is passing at CBS Television City, and he signed over the fact as he presided over one of his ceremonial lunches in his office-suite.

"You know, I don't think I could have gotten through the four years if it hadn't been for this place," he said, referring to the elegantly furnished apartment. "We've worked on scripts here, rehearsed here. And now it's going to be broken up into offices."

He displayed no real remorse that the series was ending.

Kaye said he had expected to spend the rest of the year making a movie—"I haven't made one in five years, and I'm overdue"—and picking up the loot in Las Vegas, summer theaters and state fairs.

Instead he's going to Chichester, England, to play in a classic Italian comedy, "A Servant with Two Masters."

"I must be out of my mind!" he said. "Here I've put aside engagements worth about $700,000 to go to England and play in a period farce for $214 a week, which I'll probably turn back to the company."

"But I had to do it. I've acted in straight plays when I was starting out, but never have I appeared in a real classic. It's a part that all the Italian mics used to play, bringing their own routines to it, but it hasn't been played in England for many years."

"The clincher came when Laurence Olivier told me I ought to do it. Well, why not? After four years in television, I need a change of pace, and this is certainly it."

Students with 'New Math' Make Much Better Showing

CHICAGO (AP) — An international study of how well students in 12 countries learn mathematics puts U.S. pupils near the bottom of the list. But don't blame it on the "new math," one authority says.

Benjamin S. Bloom, professor of education at the University of Chicago, reported Monday that students who had been exposed to "new math" did considerably better than those with traditional math.

"But," he added, "relatively few students tested had been exposed to the new math, so we can't draw any general conclusions."

The study, conducted by the International Project for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement, showed that the United States is among the least effective of 12 countries tested in developing mathematics talent.

Educators cited the highly comprehensive education system in the United States and lack of opportunity to learn some phases of mathematics as reasons for the poor showing of American student.

Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University and noted critic of America's educational system, declined comment on the study because he hadn't had it. He did say, "I think that making comparisons on the basis of tests is very tricky."

The project tested some 133,000 students in 12 countries in what is believed to be the largest international educational research project ever undertaken. Japan appeared to do the best over-all job of mathematics instruction in public schools.

"The differences (between countries) really begin to show up at the seventh- and eighth-grade levels," Maurice L. Hartung of the University of Chicago told a news conference. Hartung was one of five American educators who participated in the project.

"There is an implied indictment in this study of our eighth-grade math teachers," said Arthur W. Foshay, a professor and assistant dean of the Teacher College at Columbia University.

Other countries taking part in the study were Australia, Belgium, England, Finland, France, Israel, The Netherlands, Scotland, Sweden and West Germany.

LBJ Might Reconsider Request for Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources acknowledged Tuesday that President Johnson may reconsider his request for a July 1 tax boost if business continues to be sluggish.

This word, perhaps partly intended to reassure nervous businessmen, came from policy advisers who nevertheless stick to the official forecast that the 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes will be needed to curb reviving inflationary forces.

If signs of the anticipated midyear pickup are not visible by April or May, one high administration official said, "We are in a position to modify the surcharge request."

He explained: "If our projections were wrong, we could ask for a smaller surcharge, or no surcharge at all. Or the President's message to Congress could propose a later effective date — say Sept. 1 instead of July 1."

And if the slowdown should become a downturn — a development which government officials reject as well-nigh unthinkable, unless peace comes suddenly in Vietnam — the surcharge plan could even be thrown into reverse. A short-term tax cut could be asked.

The only hard and fast commitment is to the principle of tax flexibility, the official said. Small but frequent tax changes, up or down as needed, are now considered to be a proven, effective, quick-acting, and fairly precise instrument for economic stabilization, he added.

This departure from historic American reluctance to tinker with taxes was noted by the Council of Economic Advisers in its annual report to the President and Congress.

"Annual tax changes have, in fact, become the rule rather than the exception," the council said. But the technique — and especially the President's pending plan — is viewed with suspicion in Congress and with outright hostility by many businessmen.

In passing two anti-inflationary tax bills on short notice last year, Congress showed itself able and willing to break with tradition. Nevertheless, many members fear a 1967 tax increase could bring on a recession; others do not believe in any case that the tax rules should be changed for businessmen and consumers without substantial cause.

The administration argues that a stable economy is more important than a stable tax level. In the immediate future, officials said, the course of policy will be governed by the economic currents.

New economic readings will be taken when first quarter statistics are in hand, it was reported. If the January projections prove to be wrong about the hazard of overheating, the tax prescription will be changed.

Patty May, Janie Jenkins Are Acclaimed Winners in Sertoma Club Essay Contest

Two Circleville 7th graders have been acclaimed for their literary efforts in the Freedom Essay contest sponsored by the local Sertoma Club.

Awarded $25 savings bonds by the Sertoma were Janie Jenkins and Patty May. Both their essays followed the theme "What I Can Do for My Country."

Miss May is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph May Jr., 1134 Atwater Ave. Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins of 696 E. Mound St.

The contest was open to all 7th grade students in the city. Miss Jenkins attends Circleville Junior High School and Miss May is a pupil at St. Joseph's School.

HERE are their essays:

By JANIE JENKINS

At my age I don't think I could do very much for America. Yet when I stop and think, I guess there are many things I can do.

First, I love my country. I respect our flag and like our democratic way of life. I can learn as much as possible to help myself and others. I can live a good and patriotic way of life.

I can learn as much as possible about our country and our way of government. When I am older I can choose my own political party, as this is a free country.

I am a Methodist in faith, yet if I decide to change religion I can. We are a free people and can make a choice in our faith, politics, work, and education. I can help children of my own age to have respect for each other and our elders. I can make as many friends as possible since I believe friendship helps toward curbing crime in America. I expect to do the best I can with my life.

Even though I do not know the right words to express my thoughts, I enjoyed entering this contest to see for myself what I can do for America. I have never thought about it before.

By PATTY MAY

What can I do for my country? My country means a great deal to me. It means freedom of religious beliefs, freedom of protection in time of war, and freedom of living.

What can I, as a child, do for the development of my country? I can do my best to uphold the laws of my government, state and city and I can try to be a good citizen.

As a child I can't do much for juvenile delinquency but I can try to keep my friends on the right track towards good upstanding adults.

In school it is important to work and get good grades now for a good educated government in the near future.

Many people believe that only men have to get a good education and that women can't do anything for our government. This is not true.

Women need education too, because down through the history of mankind women have had great influence on the great leaders of our country.

We, as children, should learn about our government and its connection with world affairs. We should learn the history of our United States and the wars and battles we have fought and won through an educated and experienced government.

Armenian Church Claims Bibles Put Up for Sale

LONDON (AP) — Sotheby's auction house, threatened with an injunction suit, has canceled the sale of 23 ancient biblical manuscripts and agreed to return them to the Armenian Cathedral in Jerusalem.

"We changed our mind about the sale as a result of instructions from the vendor," said Peter Wilson, manager of Sotheby's. He said the seller would not allow his name to be disclosed.

Sotheby's had scheduled the sale for March 14 and reportedly expected to get up to $1.4 million.

The Armenian Catholic Church had threatened suit to stop the sale, charging that the lavishly illustrated manuscripts were taken without permission from the St. James Cathedral in Jerusalem.

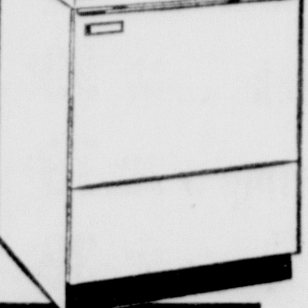

Sources in Jerusalem said five other volumes were still missing.

Stonerock, Merrin Named To All-District Teams

Tim Stonerock, Circleville's "do - everything" basketball player, and Russ Merrin, the slender 6-3 sharpshooter from Logan Elm, were named to the Class AA and Class A All District Cage teams announced today by the Associated Press.

The panel of sportswriters and sportscasters who picked the team did not name a player of the year on either squad.

Rod Teets, Teays Valley's 6-5 senior center who had a 62 per cent shooting average from the field this year, was accorded honorable mention on the team.

For Merrin, it was the second time he has been picked to the first team all - district squad. He was named Central District

Class A player of the year last year.

STONEROCK, who never failed to impress Circleville's opponents and persons who watched him with his desire and ability, was picked to the team along with a quartet of outstanding individuals from the Columbus City League teams of East and Linden McKinley.

Stonerock scored over 1,000 points in his three year varsity cage career. As a sophomore he started in the Circleville South Central Ohio League championship squad.

For the past two years he has been the leading scorer on the squad. He averaged 26.5 points per game this year in South Central Ohio League action.

In spite of his diminutive size the 5-9 Tiger cager was one of the leading rebounders in the SCO and frequently played in the pivot spot for the Tigers against players who were sometimes nearly a foot taller than he.

The college - bound brother of Logan Elm's coach, Keith Merrin, has garnered a hatful of records at Logan Elm.

MERRIN'S SEASON average of 20.6 points was the best ever at the school, his total points of 990 for his career established a mark as well as his 54.9 field goal percentage and his 77.8 per cent career free throw average.

Last year he was a second team All State selection on one press poll and a third team member on another.

Randy Smith and Ed Ratliff of East and Ed Young and Jim Clemons of Linden were named to the squad by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters.

The committee did not select a player of the year either in Class AA or A. But East coach Bob Hart, Vince Chickarella of Linden and George Klein of Worthington were AA co-coaches of the year.

Bob Miller of Canal Winchester and Mort Willis of New Albany shared honors as Class A co-coaches of the year.

Second team: Dave Leatherman, Columbus

Honorable mention - Chuck Bosse, Gahanna Lincoln; Aonso Connor, and Vance Carr, Columbus East; Bob Forman and Tom Duffey, Bexey; Mark Todd and Jack Burchfield, Grandview; Lew Anderson, Whitehall; Bill Burget, Columbus Walnut Ridge; Tom McGarrity, Columbus Watterson; Charles Hess, Pleasant View; Sherm Griffith, Franklin Heights; Jim Frazier, Columbus Northland; Tom Jackson and Jack Bennett, Columbus Ready; Steve Dorsch, Columbus DeSales; Rod Teets, Teays Valley; Larry Brown, Marion-Franklin; Dwight Lamar and Paul Castle, Columbus North; Howard Porter and Mike Alexander, London; George Yates, Grove City; Terry Miller, Reynoldsburg; Larry Rowe, Mount Vernon; Bob Hill and Dick Atha, Worthington.

Second Team: Dan Brenning, New Albany; Jim Walker, Columbus Academy; Bill Miles and Dick Whit-

mer, Canal Winchester; John Mears, Licking Valley; Bob King, Granville; Dan Hempel, Newark Catholic; Fremman Broker, Licking Heights; Grant Courtright, Amanda; Chet Looney, Danville; Ben Shaffe, Fredericktown.

Colavito Will Show Up 2 Weeks Late

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito will report to spring training here about two weeks late, but the Cleveland Indians outfielder is still likely to be Colavito, 33, agreed to terms with Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul Tuesday and will start practice Thursday while some of the Indians are on an exhibition tour in Mexico City.

Neither Paul nor Colavito would discuss terms of the contract, but it is expected to be some where between $55,000 and $65,000. That would still make Colavito the highest paid member of the squad.

Colavito had said he would not take a 25 per cent pay cut offered by Paul. His salary last season reportedly was over $65,000.

Colavito has been exercising every day and swinging a heavy bat at his home in Temple, Pa., so he wouldn't be far behind in spring training when he and Paul agreed to terms.

Colavito hit 30 homers last season, with 72 runs batted in and a .238 average. He was the last member of the Tribe to agree to terms.

The Indians opened their three-game exhibition tour with a 12-0 victory over the Mexico City Tigers Tuesday night in Mexico City. Second baseman Gus Gil drove in six runs with two doubles, a triple and a sacrifice fly.

Fred Whitfield hit a three-run homer in the first inning and drove in another run with a double in the fourth before a crowd of 23,000.

Louis Tiant gave up four singles in five innings and Dick Radatz and Steve Bailey finished the game.

B-W Stops Otterbein In 74-72 Overtime Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Baldwin-Wallace has stopped Ohio's top collegiate basketball scorer. Now can B-W check the nation's top scorer?

Holding Otterbein's Little All-American Don Carlos to 11 points, the Yellow Jackets nipped the Cardinals in a 74-72 overtime thriller Tuesday night for the Ohio Conference tournament championship.

That put B-W in the NCAA College Division Mid-East Regional at Akron, where the Bereans oppose Winston-Salem (N.C.) State — whose Earl Monroe merely is averaging 44 points a game this season.

It will be Baldwin-Wallace (21-8) against the once-beaten Negro school and Akron (19-4) vs. Mt. St. Mary's (Md.) (18-7) in Friday night semifinals. Winners play Saturday.

Findlay beat Ohio Northern 104-91 and advanced along the tournament route too Tuesday night. The game at Findlay determined the NAIA District 22 champion for the 23-team NAIA field at Kansas City in an all-week event opening next Monday.

B-W's battle with Otterbein at Denison University was a ding-donger from start to finish.

The Otters, bowing out with a 19-6 log, had the ball with the score 63-63 as regulation time neared its end but played unsuccessfully for the last shot. They had possession again with a 72-72 count as the overtime was running out, but the Jack-ets' Terry Allerton came through with a steal, was fouled in driving for a layup and sank the free throws.

Harvey Hopson scored 18 points, Ted Johnson 17, Allerton 17 and Dick Scott 16 for B-W. The Jackets weathered 27 points by Otterbein's Jim McKee as a collapsing zone collared Carlos, who averaged 26 over the season, until he finally fouled out with 6:05 left in regulation play.

Findlay takes a 16-10 record to Kansas City after putting down Ohio Northern (13-11) on 26 points—22 the second half—but freshman substitute Chuck Osting and 21 apiece by the Carder twins — Jim and Paul Dan Foster notched 27 for the Polar Bears.

The Akron tournament will see the host Zips put a 51-game home winning streak on the line. They've played two of their three regional rivals, beating B-W 94-79 at home but losing to Winston-Salem on the road 92-84.

MU Cage Coach Slated at Westfall

Taylor Locke, basketball coach at Miami University, Oxford, will be the principal speaker Thursday at the annual Westfall Basketball Banquet.

The carry-in style fete which honors freshman, reserve and varsity basketball players, cheerleaders and managers, will begin at 6:30 p. m. in the Westfall School.

Elks Slate Shoot

The Circleville BPO Elks Lodge will hold its first Gun Club shoot beginning 1 p. m. Sunday.

Stonerock, Merrin Named To All-District Teams

Tim Stonerock, Circleville's "do - everything" basketball player, and Russ Merrin, the slender 6-3 sharpshooter from Logan Elm, were named to the Class AA and Class A All District Cage teams announced today by the Associated Press.

The panel of sportswriters and sportscasters who picked the team did not name a player of the year on either squad.

Rod Teets, Teays Valley's 6-5 senior center who had a 62 per cent shooting average from the field this year, was accorded honorable mention on the team.

For Merrin, it was the second time he has been picked to the first team all - district squad. He was named Central District

Class A player of the year last year.

STONEROCK, who never failed to impress Circleville's opponents and persons who watched him with his desire and ability, was picked to the team along with a quartet of outstanding individuals from the Columbus City League teams of East and Linden McKinley.

Stonerock scored over 1,000 points in his three year varsity cage career. As a sophomore he started in the Circleville South Central Ohio League championship squad.

For the past two years he has been the leading scorer on the squad. He averaged 26.5 points per game this year in South Central Ohio League action.

In spite of his diminutive size the 5-9 Tiger cager was one of the leading rebounders in the SCO and frequently played in the pivot spot for the Tigers against players who were sometimes nearly a foot taller than he.

Merrin was the winner of the Bob Bowsher Trophy this year, presented annually to the outstanding basketball player on one of the three county high school teams.

The college - bound brother of Logan Elm's coach, Keith Merrin, has garnered a hatful of records at Logan Elm.

MERRIN'S SEASON average of 20.6 points was the best ever at the school, his total points of 990 for his career established a mark as well as his 54.9 field goal percentage and his 77.8 per cent career free throw average.

Last year he was a second team All State selection on one press poll and a third team member on another.

Randy Smith and Ed Ratleff of East and Ed Young and Jim Clemons of Linden were named to the squad by a panel of sportswriters and sportscasters.

The committee did not select a player of the year either in Class AA or A. But East coach Bob Hart, Vince Chickerella of Linden and George Klein of Worthington were AA co-coaches of the year.

Bob Miller of Canal Winchester and Mort Willis of New Albany shared honors as Class A co-coaches of the year.

Second team: Dave Leatherman, Columbus

Honorable mention - Chuck Bosse, Gahanna Lincoln; Aonso Connor, and Vance Carr, Columbus East; Bob Forman and Tom Duffey, Bexley; Mark Todd and Jack Burchfield, Grandview; Lew Anderson, Whitehall; Bill Burget, Columbus Walnut Ridge; Tom McGarrity, Columbus Watterson; Charles Hess, Pleasant View; Sherm Griffith, Franklin Heights; Jim Frazier, Columbus Northland; Tom Jackson and Jack Bennett, Columbus Ready; Steve Dorsch, Columbus DeSales; Rod Teets, Teays Valley; Larry Brown, Marion Franklin; Dwight Lamar and Paul Castle, Columbus North; Howard Porter and Mike Alexander, London; George Yates, Grove City; Terry Miller, Reynoldsburg; Larry Rowe, Mount Vernon; Bob Hill and Dick Atha, Worthington.

mer, Canal Winchester; John Mears, Licking Valley; Bob King, Granville; Dan Hempel, Newark Catholic; Fremar Broker, Licking Heights; Grant Courtwright, Amanda; Chet Loney, Danville; Ben Shaffe, Fredericktown.

Honorable mention - Randy Wickiser, New Albany; Charles Blake, West Jefferson; Bill Gary, Millersport; John Lloyd, Danville; Jim Workman, Danville; Mark Starbuck, Columbus Watkins Memorial; Larry Henderson, Dublin; Mike Shuff, Centerburg; Jim Hall, Newark Catholic.

ANY BOYS who still have uniforms from last year are requested to turn them in at the registration.

A special meeting of the Youth Baseball League will be held 7 p. m. Thursday at the home of Marvin Hicks. Persons interested in helping with boys baseball or girls softball, or with umpiring are urged to attend.

Colavito Will Show Up 2 Weeks Late

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rocky Colavito will report to spring training here about two weeks late, but the Cleveland Indians outfielder is still likely to be Colavito, 33, agreed to terms with Tribe General Manager Gabe Paul Tuesday and will start practice Thursday while some of the Indians are on an exhibition tour in Mexico City.

Neither Paul nor Colavito would discuss terms of the contract, but it is expected to be some where between $55,000 and $65,000. That would still make Colavito the highest paid member of the squad.

Colavito had said he would not take a 25 per cent pay cut offered by Paul. His salary last season reportedly was over $65,000.

Colavito has been exercising every day and swinging a heavy bat at his home in Temple, Pa., so he wouldn't be far behind in spring training when he and Paul agreed to terms.

Colavito hit 30 homers last season, with 72 runs batted in and a .238 average. He was the last member of the Tribe to agree to terms.

The Indians opened their three-game exhibition tour with a 12-0 victory over the Mexico City Tigers Tuesday night in Mexico City. Second baseman Gus Gil drove in six runs with two doubles, a triple and a sacrifice fly.

Fred Whitfield hit a three-run homer in the first inning and drove in another run with a double in the fourth before a crowd of 23,000.

Louis Tiant gave up four singles in five innings and Dick Radatz and Steve Bailey finished the game.

Walt Frazier Tops AP Basketball Little All-America 1967 Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Frazier, a 6-foot-3 junior who led Southern Illinois to 15 straight victories and a berth in the National Invitation Tournament, topped the 1967 college basketball Little All-America selected by The Associated Press today.

Earl Monroe, of the Winston-Salem N.C. State Rams, Sam Smith of Kentucky Wesleyan, Phil Jackson of North Dakota and Mel Cox of Central Washington were picked as Frazier's teammates on the first team. Monroe, Smith, Jackson and Cox are seniors.

Don Carlos of Otterbein, Al Tucker of Oklahoma Baptist, C.A. Core of Southeastern Louisiana, John Dickson of Arkansas State and Elbert Miller of Nevada Southern were named to the second team in the voting by 103 sportswriters and broadcasters.

Wayne Proffitt of Lynchburg, Willie Scott of Alabama State, Rod McDonald of Whitworth, Henry Logan of Western Carolina and Glynn Sauters of Northeast Louisiana rounded out the squad as a third team.

Each member of the three teams will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Jack Theeler of South Dakota, Dan Bolden of Southwest Missouri, Al Skelecky of San Diego State, Dan Smith of Howard Payne and Butch Wade of Indiana State were among the leaders on the honorable mention list.

Frazier, a native of Atlanta, was one of the prime reasons Southern Illinois compiled a 20-2 regular season mark. The Salukis from Carbondale, Ill. became known as the giant-killers by beating such major teams as Louisville, Texas Western, Wichita and St. Louis. Beaten only by Louisville in overtime and by Southern Methodist, the Southwest Conference champs, the Salukis passed up the NCAA small college championship tourney to accept a bid to the NIT. They play St. Peter's of New Jersey in the first round of the NIT Thursday night.

Monroe, 6-3 of Philadelphia, averaged 44.3 points per game in leading Winston-Salem to 25 straight victories before the Rams were upset by the North Carolina A&T Aggies last Friday 105-82. Monroe got 20 points in that game before fouling out.

Smith, at 6-7, and Jackson, at 6-8, the tallest players on the first team, were strong scorers and rebounders for Kentucky Wesleyan and North Dakota. Jackson is a repeater from the 1966 first team.

Cox, 6-5, was a whiz for Central Washington in the Pacific Northwest where he became known as 'Marvelous Mel.' He beat out Don Carlos of Otterbein in the voting for the first team. Carlos, a star in the Ohio Conference, was on the first team Little A-A last year.

Fran Tarkenton Giants' Answer To Joe Namath

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants have come up with their answer to the rival Jets' Joe Namath — scrambling, colorful Frank Tarkenton, late of the Minnesota Vikings.

"We had to have a personality," a spokesman for the 42-year-old National Football League club, said today. "It's important that we start winning again. It's more important that we win back the fans who have been going to the other league."

"In Tarkenton, we have that man."

The Giants acquired the 26-year-old former University of Georgia passing and running star from the Vikings Tuesday but had to pay dearly. In the deal, they gave up their top two draft choices for 1967, their first pick for 1968 and a player to be mutually agreed upon at a later date.

Allie Sherman, the Giants' coach, said it was worth it.

"This is the first and best step we could take in our bid to comeback," said Sherman, whose team won only one game in 1966 and finished in the Eastern Division cellar. "Tarkenton is a fine pro quarterback whose ability, leadership and experience will be a great asset to our young team."

Tarkenton, a mild-mannered, pleasant young man, may not match Namath's lineage in the gossip columns, but he should give the exciting ex-Alabama ace a run for the hurrahs on the playing field.

A six-year NFL veteran, Tarkenton has gained acclaim as a scrambling quarterback. Unlike most of the protected passers, who operate from a pocket, he is apt to break away at any moment and pick his way through tacklers like a nimble-footed halfback.

At Minnesota, he averaged 53.9 per cent on his completions, throwing for 113 touchdowns, and he was always dangerous on the ground. He rolled up 1,803 yards rushing, averaged 6.5 yards a carry and scored 15 TDs.

Sherman insisted that he had no plans of changing Tarkenton's method of operation.

The new Giant signal-caller, who plans to continue to make his home in Atlanta, said he was happy to be in New York but denied reports that his break with the Vikings — he asked last month to be traded — was due to a personality clash with the former Viking coach, Norman Van Brocklin.

"Van Brocklin is a tremendous coach," he said. "I am indebted to him. He taught me a lot. I wanted to leave Minneapolis for personal reasons."

First Koufax, Now Drysdale

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Drysdale left the problem-plagued Los Angeles Dodgers wondering today how far he and Sandy Koufax can carry the idea of togetherness.

The two pitched the Dodgers to pennants and World Series victories together, held out together, and now Drysdale is talking about following Koufax into retirement.

"I'm pitching on a year to year basis," said the 30-year-old right-hander, who has been bothered by a sore arm this spring. "This could be my last year, or I might play five more. I've reached the point where I have to think of my family and security. At the end of 1967, I'll weigh a number of factors, including the year I've had, the year the team has had and whatever offers outside of baseball come my way."

Drysdale, who was acting with Koufax at this time last year during their celebrated salary holdout that cost Drysdale most of spring training and subsequently led to a 13-16 record, signed for about $100,000 this year and reported to camp in the best shape in several years. But the sore arm apparently is bothering him.

"I'm sure it's nothing serious," said the 1962 Cy Young Award winner, "but my arm has never stayed sore this long."

With Los Angeles' 1967 pennant hopes all but dashed by Koufax' dramatic retirement in December because of his arthritic elbow, similar action by Drysdale would make the situation even worse next year.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received by the Trustees of Scioto Township, Pickaway County, Ohio, until 8 o'clock P. M. on Friday, March 17, 1967, at the Township House, Commercial Point, Ohio, for a new Tractor, Loader and Mower mounted as one unit with trade-in allowance for a Model 40 John Deere Tractor, with side mounted mower, and a Wagner front end loader.

The above equipment to be in accordance with specifications and reservations on file in the office of the Clerk, Nancy Warner, Route No. 2, Ashville, Ohio.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person, firm, or corporation interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond with an approved surety company in the sum of $100.00 or a certified check in the same amount, on some solvent bank, drawn and made payable to the Township, as guaranty that if any bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and its performance secured in the proper manner. Should any bid be rejected such bond or check will be returned to the bidder upon the proper execution of the contract.

The successful bidder, if any, will be required to execute the contract within 5 days after the award of the same to him in case of failure to execute the contract as stated, the bidder will be considered to have abandoned the contract and the bond or check accompanying the bid shall be forfeited to the Township.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds figure they picked the right man in last year's free agent draft when they chose young Gary Nolan.

"He has a very live fast ball and excellent control for a rookie," says pitching coach Mel Harder. "He's got a nice free and easy motion and the ball really zooms in there."

The 19-year-old righthander has had only three months' experience playing professional ball but he hopes to make the jump all the way to the majors this year.

Manager Dave Bristol thinks he may have a chance—especially if he keeps pitching scoreless ball the way he did for two innings in Tuesday's intra-squad game.

"He's my sleeper," Bristol said.

The Reds play their first exhibition game Friday at Clearwater against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Tuesday's game revealed one possible source of woe for the Reds. Pitcher Sammy Ellis still can't make his fast ball sink the way he did in 1965 and the batters got to him for three singles in the opening inning of the intra-squad game.

Iowa Still Has Chance

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Iowa Hawkeyes are keeping their fingers crossed. They still have a chance of beating out Indiana and Michigan State for the Big Ten berth in the NCAA postseason tournament for the national collegiate basketball championship.

It's only an outside chance since both Indiana and Michigan State will have to lose Saturday, but after their 90-87 overtime victory over Wisconsin Tuesday night the Hawkeyes are hopeful their long shot will come in.

The victory gave Iowa an 8-5 conference record, one game back of Indiana and Michigan State tied for first at 9-4. If Purdue beats Indiana and Northwestern down Michigan State, Iowa can finish in a triple tie for the conference title Saturday by defeating last-place Michigan.

In that event Iowa would get the NCAA berth since both Indiana and Michigan State have been in the NCAA tournament later than the Hawkeyes.

Knickerbockers' Dave Stallworth Has Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — For the New York Knickerbockers it might be all over but the shouting. For Dave Stallworth it might be the end of a promising career.

That was the situation confronting the National Basketball Association team and its spirited young forward today after the 25-year-old Stallworth was hospitalized Tuesday for a heart condition.

"Stallworth suffered a heart attack," said Dr. Kazuo Yanagisawa, the Knicks' team physician.

"He had twinges a couple of weeks ago, but didn't think anything of it. He got hit with the heart attack Saturday night."

"The manner in which he responds to treatment will determine his future in basketball," said General Manager Eddie DeGovan.

NBA Club Owners Meet To Discuss Strike Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — National Basketball Association club owners have planned a meeting in Chicago Thursday in an attempt to curb a threatened strike by the players.

The players issued the strike decree more than a week ago and plan a sitdown before the start of the playoffs if their demand for increased pensions are not met.

The playoffs, involving eight of the ten teams in the league, are scheduled to begin no later than March 22.

OSU's Bill Hosket Honored at Banquet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's basketball squad at the postseason banquet Tuesday night elected Bill Hosket its 1966-67 most valuable player and its 1967-68 captain.

The 6-foot-7 junior whose father was an all-Big Ten cager at OSU 33 years ago led the team in scoring and rebounding after recovering from a knee injury which caused him to miss the first few games.

But the sore arm apparently is bothering him.

"I'm sure it's nothing serious," said the 1962 Cy Young Award winner, "but my arm has never stayed sore this long."

With Los Angeles' 1967 pennant hopes all but dashed by Koufax' dramatic retirement in December because of his arthritic elbow, similar action by Drysdale would make the situation even worse next year.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received by the Trustees of Scioto Township, Pickaway County, Ohio, until 8 o'clock P. M. on Friday, March 17, 1967, at the Township House, Commercial Point, Ohio, for a new Tractor, Loader and Mower mounted as one unit with tractor in allowance for a Model 40 John Deere Tractor, with side mounted mower, and a Wagner front end loader.

The above equipment to be in accordance with specifications and reservations on file in the office of the Clerk, Nancy Warner, Route No. 2, Ashville, Ohio.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person, firm, or corporation interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond with an approved surety company in the sum of $100.00 or a certified check in the same amount on some solvent bank, drawn and made payable to the Township, as guaranty that if any bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and its performance secured in the proper manner. Should any bid be rejected such bond or check will be returned to the bidder upon the proper execution of the contract.

The successful bidder, if any, will be required to execute the contract within 5 days after the award of the same to him in case of failure to execute the contract as stated, the bidder will be considered to have abandoned the contract and the bond or check accompanying the bid shall be forfeited to the Township.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

Open House, General Fair Scheduled Friday at CHS

Circleville High School will hold an open house Friday during the first General Fair and Science Fair at the high school building.

The open house will be conducted 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. There will be student guides on hand to direct visitors to various areas of the fair.

Teachers and students will explain and demonstrate the various projects and displays.

An expansion of the old science fair, this year's event includes all academic areas at the high school, it was pointed out today by Paul Sarchet, Circleville High School principal.

"THIS will be a wonderful opportunity for parents and city citizens to see the subject matter areas at the school," Sarchet stated.

In addition to the usual projects which will be on display in the science, physics and chemistry labs, the physical education classes will demonstrate various pieces of gymnastics equipment. The girls will stage an intra-mural basketball game in the gymnasium.

The language laboratory and its uses will be demonstrated by students and teachers.

The annual and journalism staffs will have a practice layout of the yearbook on display.

The Latin area students will have projects on display pertaining to the Caesar era during Roman history.

The home economics department and the industrial arts department will have various student projects on display.

IN THE audio - visual area of the school, equipment will be on display, and an explanation offered as to how it is coordinated into the school program.

The art department will have the works of a number of students on display.

Also participating in the fair will be history, commercial, math, distributive education and music departments, to name a few.

Double Honor Is Bestowed On Dunlap at OIC Session

JOHN H. DUNLAP JR.

Two honors were bestowed on John H. Dunlap Jr. of Route 1, Williamsport during Tuesday's 10th Annual Meeting of the Ohio Information Committee in Columbus.

Dunlap, Williamsport area businessman-farmer, was one of five persons presented Distinguished Leadership Awards by the Ohio Information Committee. He also was elected a vice president of OIC.

Earlier this year, Dunlap was named National Wildlife Conservationist, with the official presentation made in Washington, D. C. The OIC honor goes to members who have faithfully provided outstanding civic leadership for the benefit of all Ohioans.

The OIC awards also went to Agnes Merritt of Columbus, Walter G. Nord of Oberlin, Charles W. Ufford of Cleveland and Don E. Weaver of Columbus.

The OIC president for 1967 is Fred J. Milligan, Columbus attorney. Everett H. Krueger, vice president-counsel for City National Bank & Trust Co. of Columbus is the new treasurer and Richard W. Shoemaker of Columbus is the executive secretary.

Main speakers at the Tuesday annual session were John M. McElroy, chief aide to Gov. James Rhodes; Theodore M. Gray, Ohio Senate majority leader; and Charles F. Kurfess, Ohio House of Representatives speaker.

The Ohio Information Committee is an independent, non-partisan statewide political action organization that conducts a year-round registration and vote program among business groups.

CHS Matmen Lions Guests

Tips on wrestling, presented by CHS team members were featured at Tuesday's weekly dinner meeting of the Lions Club at the Wardell Party Home.

Kent Carpenter, head wrestling coach and assistant football coach at CHS, offered comments on the sport and gave instructions on scoring and different methods of wrestling holds.

Practical demonstrations were given by CHS students Ron Miller, a 145-pounder, and Tom Fletcher. Both are seniors at CHS.

Lions member R. E. Nau introduced Burl Wiggins of the General Telephone Co. as a guest for the evening.

Paul A. and Irene Orr Johnson to Herman and Myrtle Lucille Licker, lot 41, Avondale Addition, Circleville.

City Moves Ahead To Secure Land for Sewer Project

Legislation authorizing the city to proceed with legal steps in appropriating two right-of-way easements for the North Storm Sewer Improvement project was approved Tuesday night by Circleville Council.

Council's intention to secure the land through legal procedure was declared at the Feb. 21 meeting. The ordinance approved last night authorized Solicitor Kenneth Robbins to take necessary action in having a jury impaneled for a review of the issue.

The jury, to be called by a court of competent jurisdiction,

Two Men Placed On Probation

William K. Chaffin of Portsmouth and Paul Ray Chaffin of Circleville have been placed on three - year probationary terms by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

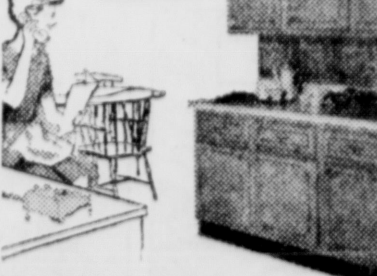

The two men appeared before Judge Ammer on a bill of information. They entered pleas of guilty to grand larceny charges filed by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

The two are accused of the theft of a power saw last October from David Hedges, a Walnut Twp. farmer.

$5 BILLION "AUSTERE" — NASA Administrator James E. Webb tells the House Space Committee that President Johnson's $5 billion space budget is "forward looking but austere" and "leaves our margins thin for the work to be accomplished."

will have the power to inquire into and assess the compensation to be paid by the city for the two right-of-way easements.

The easement condemnation involves property owned by Ralph Meinfelter and Robert Elsea. Extensive negotiation between the city and the owners over the past few months failed to produce an agreement.

ACCORDING to city officials purpose of the North Storm Sewer is to drain surface water from certain territories in the northern section of Circleville to prevent flooding of streets and residential premises within the proposed system.

The right-of-way sought on the Meinfelter property is described as a strip of land 10 feet in width and extending a distance of approximately 140 feet, along with a temporary easement of 40 feet in width for working purposes.

A strip extending 2,095 feet is being sought on the Elsea land, along with a similar temporary working easement.

The ordinance authorizing the legal step was approved by a unanimous council vote.

In other legislative action, the lawmakers passed an ordinance authorizing the Circleville Board of Public Utilities to advertise for bids to purchase a passenger car and a three-quarter ton pickup truck. Both vehicles are for the City Water Department.

Both bids are to allow for trade-in allowances on a 1963 car and a 1963 pickup truck. Ervin F. Leist, public utilities manager, said both vehicles were provided for in this year's budget.
